WALL STREET STOCKS BID UP RATHER VIOLENTLY

"Bulls" Mark First Reduction in Brokers' Loans Since May With Activity in Utilities and Others.

TOTAL SALES ARE LARGEST SINCE MAY

About Two Score of Issues Carried Up 2 to More Than 20 Points to Record Levels.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The moderate downturn in brokers' loans set the signal today for another violent bull movement on the stock market which carried about half a hundred issues to record levels and piled up total sales for the session of 4,759,130 shares, the largest turnover since May.

If anything the situation in the demand money market was somewhat firmer than it had been during the last day or two. The supply at 9 per cent rate fixed for regular issues was still sufficient to keep abreast of the demand, and at times the threat of a higher rate was rather strong. The situation here was explained by the apparent inability or indisposition of the member banks to have out their total of borrowings at the regional bank during the week. The brisk demand for Federal funds at almost a full 1 per cent above the bank rate, indicated the efforts of banks to correct their position without taking recourse to the medium of calling outstanding loans. Report had it that some new money was coming from out-of-town, but that had not yet appear able to keep hold of it.

Bear pressure was exerted against the market in the early afternoon, but made slight impression and was soon abandoned. Some of the motors and oils which were sent down 1 to 3 points rallied before the close. Week end selling was easily absorbed, and the session ended with prices generally at their best levels the tickers falling about 10 minutes before closing.

Utilities Strong.
The rather meager business news of the day was of a character to aid the advance. Youngstown Sheet & Tube declared a 20 per cent stock dividend and Universal Leaf Tobacco declared a stock dividend of 25 per cent.

Admiral Magruder Made Commander of Fleet Base on Pacific Coast.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary Adams announced today that Rear Admiral Magruder had been assigned to duty as commander of the fleet base force on the Pacific Coast.

Rear Admiral Magruder was placed on duty in November, 1927, following publication in the Saturday Evening Post of articles by him criticizing the handling of naval affairs by the department. At the time he was commandant of the navy yard at Philadelphia.

Appeals on his behalf for assignment to a post have been made repeatedly.

U.S. Steel Up 5 Points.
U.S. Steel was a bull leader, closing at 202 up 4 points after having sold more than 5 higher. Bethlehem jumped 4 points to a record price. Brooklyn Union Gas, after selling up 4% points, however, reduced its gain to 4 points, and American Telephone, after mounting 5% points, sagged a point from the top.

Ants Damage Church $10,000.
HENDERSON, Ky., July 12.—White ants invaded the Episcopal Church here and caused $10,000 damage before they were discovered. The insects, known as termites, destroyed the woodwork foundation of the church.

Commodities Irregular.
Commodities were somewhat irregular. Wheat futures closed about 1½ cents higher on bullish Canadian crop estimates, but corn aged ½ to ¾ of a cent on bearish weather. Cotton closed firm, at new advances of 80 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to heaveiness, with renewed pressure against sterling, the cable rates getting near the incoming gold point again at $4.85.

Closing Stock Prices with Other Tables and Market News will be found on pages 42, 43, 44 and 45.

ORDER TO DEPORT ST. LOUIS WOMAN IS SET ASIDE

Henry Maack, 73, Had Tried to Have Wife Sent Back to Germany Following Divorce Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The warrant for the deportation of Mrs. Helene Maack of St. Louis to Germany was canceled today by Secretary of Labor Davis upon the recommendation of the Board of Review.

The record showed that she had been lawfully admitted to the United States and eventually married Henry Maack, 73 years old, of 1742 Chouteau avenue, St. Louis, retired proprietor of an architectural and industrial school, who had sought to have her deported after she filed suit recently to divorce him.

Maack presented documents intended to show that his wife, when in Germany, had been tried for the theft of a dress. The question before the Board of Review was solely whether such a petty theft, if true as charged, could be considered evidence of moral turpitude.

Mrs. Maack had denied the theft, but nevertheless she had been kept in the St. Louis city jail for 30 days, until last Monday, because of her inability to furnish $1,000 bond pending disposition of her bond.

Hamburg police told the American Consul there that Mrs. Maack could return to Germany without fear of arrest.

The Board of Review investigation showed that for the last six years Mrs. Maack had led a respectable life and was merely the victim of circumstances.

The board held that the charges of moral turpitude had not been proved.

10 BOYS BURNED TO DEATH GIVING RESCUE EXHIBIT

Show Structure Consumed by Flames Before They Can Escape at Charity Bazaar in England.

TRAGEDY WITNESSED BY LARGE CROWD

Spectators at First Think Youths Are Acting in Frantic Appeals for Help—Blaze Set Too Soon.

By the Associated Press.

GILLINGHAM, England, July 12.—Ten boy cadets from the Chatham Naval Barracks were burned to death here last night when a dummy house at a charity bazaar took fire and was consumed before they could leave it. Three firemen and three or four other persons who tried to rescue them were injured seriously, one dying in a hospital.

The action was taken on recommendation of R. F. Kelker Jr., consulting engineer of the commission, following Gov. Caulfield's veto of the Terminable Permit act, which the commission had sponsored.

Kelker recommended that principles to be included in a franchise for the street railway company, and that an analysis of the abandoned "service-at-cost" plan also be prepared.

As a result of the action of the commission, plans for hearings by a subcommittee on Kelker's previous recommendation for extensive rerouting of car lines in the interest of improved service, will await the working out of a franchise ordinance.

The proceedings opened yesterday with the presentation by Kelker of a brief review of the transportation situation in the city, the engineer concluding with a mention of the financial requirements and with his recommendations for the Survey Commission's work in the immediate future.

In response to a question by Charles J. Eisenberg, an ex-official engineer, it was brought out quite clearly that a "service-at-cost" franchise would continue the street railway company under the state public service commission.

City Counselor Muench gave the opinion that the Public Service Commission would hold jurisdiction.

HEAD OF SEVEN CLOSED FLORIDA BANKS ARRESTED

John Fouts Held on Charge

More Depositories Fail
Inside Two Months.

ACCUSED OF MAKING LOANS TO HIMSELF

First National and Volusia County Trust of Deland
With $3,000,000 Deposits Latest to Fail.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 12.—Three Florida banks, two at Deland and one at Miami, were placed in the hands of Bank examiners yesterday, and John Fouts, president and director of four Central Florida banks which closed May 15, was arrested in connection with the failure of these latter.

The First National Bank and the Volusia County Bank & Trust Co. at Deland, the only two banks in the city and the Colonial Bank & Trust Co. of Miami, closed yesterday.

route director and president of the State Bank of Bartow, the First National Bank of Lakeland, the First National Bank of Auburndale and the State Bank of Winter Haven, was arrested at Winter Haven and taken to Bartow.

The information against Fouts alleged that he lent to himself $5000 of the Bartow Bank's funds without the consent of the board, and that he altered the minutes of the board to conceal the loans he had regular, when the resources actually were not normal. Volusia County Bank at Deland had resources of $2,816,158, deposits of $1,840,442; capital stock of $200,000; surplus $100,000, and loans and discounts of $1,724,516, while the First National had resources of $1,759,972; capital stock $100,000; surplus $25,000, and deposits of $1,211,750.

The Colonial Bank & Trust Co. capitalized at $160,000, with a surplus of $25,000, had been making steady withdrawals of cash during the past four days. Similar unanticipated runs accounted for the closing of the Deland Bank.

A notice posted on the Volusia County Bank said plans had been discussed, "and further action is contemplated looking to a reorganization of the bank with the purpose of paying the depositors in full."

Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of Stetson University, here, recently became president of the Volusia County Bank.

DAVIS DEFEATS TENNIS CHAMPIONS OF PHILIPPINES

He and Partner First Players to Beat Aragon Brothers in Straight Sets.

MANILA, July 12.—Governor-General Dwight F. Davis started Manila yesterday and today by playing two smashing rounds of tennis with the fastest players in the Philippines.

The Governor-General sprang his biggest surprise yesterday when, paired with Manuel Barredo, he defeated Francisco and Guillermo Aragon, Philippine double champions and members of the Davis Cup team, in three straight sets. The same teams split even in today's match.

The feature of the playing was Davis' fast serves and the driving of the Aragon brothers. It was the first time the two brothers ever were beaten in straight sets. The Governor-General's appearance as an active player proved to be a treat to Manila and a boost to the net game.

Davis announced he would recommend the creation of two new zones for Davis Cup play. He is the donor of the cup. He said one of the new zones proposed would be in Europe and the other in the Orient.

NEW MOVE FOR TROLLEY FRANCHISE AT THE CITY HALL

The administration's interest in securing for the car rider the kind of service I have just outlined.

President Stanley Clarke of the street car company read to the commission a prepared statement touching various questions connected with the reorganization of the United Railways to the St. Louis Public Service Co.

He said that the Post-Dispatch, after advocating service-at-cost franchises, had opposed the 1925 ordinance. He denied that J. K. Newman, New York promoter and manager for the Reorganization Committee, had asked for the ordinance and denied that there ever was a demand for a specific financial value or rate of return.

Clarke Objects to Taxes.

Clarke said that street car transportation in St. Louis was operated under great difficulties, asserting that the taxes paid were the second highest in proportion to gross income of any company in the country, that wages paid were sixth highest, that the St. Louis company contends with the difficulties of very high passenger rates, and its gross revenue for damages than any company in any other city except Cleveland. He also cited unregulated jitney service, bus competition and lack of traffic regulations.

He argued that the valuation placed on the company by the Public Service Commission was not as important item in the fixing of the franchise as the fact which was bought by the Newman group for $49,100,000, received a valuation of $62,500,000 for rate-making purposes. Clarke said the difference between the city's contention to value and the value fixed by the Public Service Commission was $10,000,000. "With $20,000,000 revenue riders," he said, "1 cent in car fare is equivalent to 1 cent in bus fare. Seven per cent on $10,000,000 is $700,000. So that the question involved is one of less than one-third of 1 cent of a car fare."

100-PASSENGER PLANE TRIED

Preliminary Flight Made at Fried-

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, July 12.—Slight motor trouble, arising from the failure of the 12 motors to synchronize, marred the trial flights of the new 100-passenger Dornier plane, D. O. X., today. This is the biggest passenger-carrying plane in the world.

The plane made three short flights today. The takeoffs appeared to be successful, the machine rising within 30 seconds.

During the first flight difficulties could easily be corrected.

The flights today were preliminary to real trials scheduled Monday.

THREE ARRESTED WHEN ONE SHOWS A $1000 BILL

Man Who Says He Is Realty Dealer in Custody With Ex-Bootlegger and Latter's Wife.

"Flashing a $1000 bill in a night club, especially a St. Louis night club attracts too much attention. You can bet I won't do it again when I get out of this mess."

The speaker, a prisoner at Police Headquarters, was a middle-aged man who says he is Frederick Arthur Crawford, a Washington real estate operator worth $250,000—including the $1000 bill.

"I'm on a year's vacation and have to carry a lot of money with me," the prisoner continued. "Besides, I like to take in night clubs and have a drink or two, and that costs money."

"Last night I was in a party at a West End club and paid the bill of a roll with a $1000 bill on the outside. After I left I understand a rookie cop dropped in the place and somebody told him: 'You should have seen the guy with a roll of 40 or 50 grand!' The rookie made a report and 12 detectives came to my apartment last midnight and pinched us."

Arrested with Crawford, at the Guild Hall apartments, 4307 West Pine boulevard, was a man who said he was John Dade, Washington bootlegger prior to the Jones law, and a woman who said she was Dade's wife.

The police seized in the apartment Crawford's roll of $1250—one $1000 bill, two $100 bills and 15 $50 bills—Dade's $50 roll, two pearl necklaces which Crawford had been appraised at $25,000, two diamond rings worn by the men and valued by them at $15, a watch and chain, six women's gold rings, two scarfs pins and a revolver.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 12.—Just "rolling along" is the life of Loren W. Reinhardt and Pete Reinhardt in their record-smashing airplane flight.

"Born June 26, 1895, at Princeton, Kan.," the penciled note ran.

"Lived on farm at Russell, Kan., until war. Enlisted 8th day of April, 1917, in air service. Transferred to balloon company, made commander, age 18. After war barnstormed, doing stunt flying and carrying passengers. Was with Kinched Flying Circus two years, manager Barron Aviation Field, Fort Worth, Tex., one year. With Treasury Department as chief pilot the last two years until March 15, 1929, scouting stills and river ships, flying fast pursuit planes for the U.S. Air Patrol. Oct. 18, 1928. Remained until I resigned to take up commercial aviation."

"LOREN W. MENDELL."

A staunch friendship exists between the flyers of the air and his younger companion, Young Reinhardt spent most of his early life in Salem, Ore., and later enlisted in the navy. Leaving home, he got out of touch with his family and had not seen his father, R. R. Reinhardt, for five years until yesterday. The elder Reinhardt, now a Long Beach insurance man, went up in the refueling plane and waved a greeting to his son.

Four-Hour Tricks at Stick.

Unlike the case of the Question Mark, the original endurance flight plane, there is no elaborate ground kitchen with carefully prepared food for the flyers. The meals sent to the flyers are just what can be obtained from nearby restaurants.

DRY DETECTIVE HELD FOR ROBBERY OF BAR

Chicago Policeman Accused by Saloonkeeper of Taking Part in $50 Holdup.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Detective Daniel Allman, member of the Grand Crossing Station dry squad, which has been especially active against saloonkeepers, was arrested last night on a charge of robbery.

A saloonkeeper identified Allman as one of two men who had held him up and taken $50 from the cash register.

Chief Fisher, described as a hardy conqueror of the air seems to be rolling—no particular brand—just rolls, cinnamon rolls, butter rolls, hard rolls, and, in fact, any variety of roll that happens to be available when the food cans are being prepared for them at the ground station. Always there's a bottle of coffee to go with the rolls for which these flyers seem to have such a prodigious appetite.

Of course, there are other items. The night before they passed the previous record mark, they had a chicken dinner. Admirers on the ground went to one of the "mammy shacks" that dot the Southern California roadside and obtained a complete dinner with the fried chicken as the principal dish. In Fisher's possession was the police badge of Detective Joseph Hennessey, who was sought today for questioning.

The squad of which Allman and Hennessey are members is credited with having built up 30 dry law cases for Federal authorities within the last 30 days.

The saloonkeeper's story was that Detective Allman and Fisher came to his place, flashed a gun and said they wanted down town. The demand $100 "for protection," Christian said. When he refused, the two drew pistols, lined up seven patrons and took $50 from the cash register.

Lucien Klotz, Head of Finance Under Clemenceau, Gets Two Years and Fine.

PARIS, July 12.—Lucien Klotz, Minister of Finance in the Clemenceau wartime cabinet, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and fined 50 francs (two dollars) today on charges of swindling, abuse of confidence and issuing worthless checks.

Klotz, who was one of the signers of the Treaty of Versailles and negotiator for the purchase of American war stocks, will serve his two years sentence in a French jail unless the Court of Appeals should reverse today's sentence.

The jail term came as a great shock to the lawyers and officials who had been expecting a suspended sentence of one year. Inasmuch as Klotz has now served nearly seven months awaiting trial, this would have automatically released him since it would be counted double prison time under French law.

'UNTIN' BOWLER IS WAITING OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE OFF

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, July 12.—A message today from the Port Burwell government radio station to the Department of Marine and Fisheries indicated that the Chicago-Berlin amphibian airplane, "Untin" Bowler, was awaiting an opportunity to take off.

The message said: "Barometer 29.68, falling wind southeast 8 miles an hour, cloudy, visibility 10 miles. Closely packed ice in all directions. But in around the plane cover our last night and lessened chances of further damage. The plane is waiting for ice to move out enough to allow a take-off."

BELLEVILLE LOAN BROKER FAILS AND LEAVES FOR EAST

Lawyer Announces Losses of $25,000 or More to W. J. Ruediger's Clients Are Indicated.

OFFICE CLOSED ON $2000 MORTGAGE SUIT

Attorney Says Realty Man Failed to Account for Money Collected for Others.

Walter J. Ruediger, Belleville, Alton and East St. Louis real estate, insurance and loan dealer, whose advertising slogan was "millions to loan on real estate," has failed, owing his clients at least $25,000 and possibly twice that much, according to P. C. Ottewell, formerly Ruediger's attorney.

As attorney for Ruediger's mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Rehman Ottewell has been checking over the real estate and bank books. Mrs. Rehman with Walter Ruediger resided at 209 South Charles street, Bellwood. Ottewell has been checking over Ruediger's books. Mrs. Rehman is liable for some of Ruediger's obligations and is ready to meet them, Ottewell said.

Ruediger left Belleville Wednesday, saying he was going East in an effort to obtain money to meet his obligations. On the same day his Belleville office was closed on the filing of a suit for accounting by Mrs. Clara Yoch of Belleville, who said today that a $2000 mortgage, obtained through Ruediger, died three months ago, but that Ruediger asked for more time before he demanded her money on Wednesday.

Holds State Office.

Ruediger is a member of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, having been appointed by former Gov. Small. He is a former vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. At one time he was commissioned by insurance companies to invest their funds in mortgages and on the basis of this he coined the slogan "millions to loan on real estate."

$12 Holdup in Restaurant.

Ruediger, lost about $4,000 in 1927 and the Renshaw Co. of East St. Louis, and his failure is partially attributed to this. Ottewell, His mortgage and loan business is said to have exceeded $500,000 a year in Belleville alone.

The following explanation of Ruediger's affairs has been published as an advertisement by Attorney Ottewell, in Belleville and East St. Louis newspapers:

"It appears that Walter J. Ruediger has failed but I cannot estimate for what amount with any degree of certainty. I am informed today that he left yesterday for somewhere in the East in an endeavor to raise money to take care of his creditors. I do not know where he is.

"A number of people have come in who have been referred to me by Mrs. Rehman, his mother-in-law, whose attorney I am, and it has developed that there are a considerable number of satisfied mortgages for which Mr. Ruediger evidently received the money and failed to account to the people by whom they were left with him for collection.

Little Hope for Creditors.

"A number of people have receipts for matured notes and mortgages which have either been collected or perhaps disposed of by him. No one else connected with the Walter J. Ruediger business knows anything about his transactions as far as his loan business was concerned by him and neither Oscar P. Ruediger, his brother, nor Mrs. Leon Louchard, his stepmother, know anything about that part of his business.

"We are checking up the amount in an endeavor to learn the extent of the losses but it will be several days before all of the parties who had transactions with him come in so that we can get an intelligent idea as to the amount of them. I do not know what resources Mr. Ruediger had, but I am satisfied that they are very small and that unsecured creditors will receive very little.

"I do know that Mr. Ruediger had lost considerable money through the Renshaw failure in 1922 and the accumulation of interest on money borrowed in that affair together with poor collections and the fact that he made a number of advances of interest on mortgages where the mortgagors were unable to pay the same have been important elements in the cause of his failure.

"Mrs. Rehman has made considerable advances for him and has obligated herself, but I cannot say to what extent. The amount will probably run very high, but she is entirely solvent and it is her intention to meet all her obligations if she is given time to do so. The Renshaw losses sustained by Mr. Ruediger amounted to over $30,000."

FINE FOR DRIVING INTERSTATE BUS WITHOUT STATE PERMIT

Independent Operator One of Five Arrested at St. Charles; Others Given Bond.

The first arrests in this vicinity in the campaign to prevent the operation of interstate motorbuses in Missouri without state permits were made last night.

When Sheriff Grotto, assisted by Arthur Nelson, State Inspector of Motorbuses, took five drivers into custody, four of the men, employed by a motorbus company, were released under $200 bonds and a fifth, operating an independent bus, was fined $10 in a Justice court today.

Nelson stated that similar arrests are being made in other Missouri cities.

DIVORCES FRANKLIN WEISS, SLAYER OF BROTHER-IN-LAW

Wife Had Charged He Gambled Away Borrowed Money; Suit Not Contested.

Franklin Weiss, 709 Limite avenue, under $12,500 bond for shooting and killing his brother-in-law, Samuel Himesle, on June 27, was divorced today on the ground of general indignities.

The decree was granted by Judge Taylor in the Court of Domestic Relations. Mrs. Weiss, who lives at 5877 Nina place, said that she was married on Aug. 4, 1922, and separated on Dec. 15 last. She claimed that her husband borrowed money and then gambled it away and that he ordered her to leave their home. The suit was not contested. She was awarded custody of their 3-year-old daughter.

OPEN STREET CARS BURNED

Last of Old Equipment on Creve Coeur Line Destroyed.

The old type summer street car, open on the right side and without a central aisle, is no more. A number of these cars, familiar to trolley riders of the past who sought relief from the heat of summer evenings in a "moonlight" ride to Creve Coeur Lake, have been burned recently in the "graveyard" of the Public Service Co. near the Creve Coeur right-of-way and Olive Street road.

The open cars have not been in use since before the present management took charge in 1926, according to representative of the company, who said they had proved dangerous and uncomfortable. Their destruction, he explained, was simply the usual disposal of antiquated equipment.

FIRST PENALTY UNDER CITY SMOKE ORDINANCE SUSTAINED

Samuel C. Igou of Motor Concern Fired $25, Fails to Prosecute Appeal.

A fine of $25 imposed against Igou Motors, Inc., 2914-16 North Grand boulevard, for violation of the smoke ordinance was sustained yesterday by Provisional Judge Meigs of the Court of Criminal Correction when Samuel C. Igou failed to appear to prosecute his appeal from Police Court. This was the first penalty imposed under the new ordinance, which was approved Jan. 22.

Robert R. Gordon, city smoke commissioner, testified that after numerous complaints had been received from residents of the neighborhood, he issued several warnings to Igou, which Gordon said was discontinued. And on Jan. 22, Meigs said if the smoke were denser than that from the City Hall, Gordon replied that it was and that the conditions there had been corrected.

Inspector O'Brien testified that smoke issuing from the Igou stock on Feb. 13 was of the variety prohibited by the ordinance.

J. K. NEWMAN AND BROTHER-IN-LAW GOING TO COURT

Differences Over Control of pajama manufacturing Company in Baltimore Result in Summons.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, July 12.—J. K. Newman of the law firm of Newman, Saunders & Co., and president of the City Utilities Co., which controls the St. Louis streetcar company, has been serving with a summons through the law firm of Hughes, Sherman & Dwight to appear in the Supreme Court of New York and state his side of a controversy with his brother-in-law, George M. Harsh of Baltimore, over their business relations in connection with the Faultless Manufacturing Co. of Baltimore, makers of "Faultless" pajamas and other garments for men.

It appears that some time ago Harsh's health broke down, and being advised by his physician to drop business cares, he arranged with Newman to take control of the Faultless Manufacturing Co. Newman still retains control. Harsh succeeded in recovering his health and would like also to recover his business, but it appears he and Newman have been unable to reach mutually satisfactory terms, and hence the prospective appeal to the court.

At the office of Hughes, Sherman & Dwight, members of the firm, A. M. Lindau, who represents Harsh, said: "I don't believe it before the complaint is served, that he knew something about the murder led to questioning by police and the subsequent arrests."

Maloney is 31 years old and lives at 5855A Delmar boulevard. Ware is 33 and lives at 1019 Leona street, University City. Daher, who police say planned the holdup but was not on the scene, lives at 2219 Albermarle street, a block from the cigar store. He is 28 years old.

FINDS NO LIQUOR, ARRESTS TWO

County Sheriff Discovers Only Auto Accessories in Search.

Although Sheriff Lill found no liquor when he served a search warrant on a house in Spencer place, University City, yesterday afternoon, he arrested two men after finding an outboard boat motor.

Newman, who is at Lake Placid, sent the following telegram in response to the correspondent's inquiry for his version of the situation: "The matter of the Faultless Manufacturing Co. is the result of my original desire to assist Mr. Ottewell, my brother-in-law, in his difficulties. Until the suit reaches trial I prefer not to discuss it."

A soprano, Miss Clark, hardly met, vocally, the requirements of the part of "Arline," prima donna of the Municipal Theater Association, came to the Municipal Theater Association were not pleased with her singing in this role. A woman of charm and personality, she appeared to be more fitted for light musical productions than in difficult, changing roles week after week.

Miss Clark will conclude the role of "The Bohemian Girl" on Sunday night. She had been scheduled to sing the title role of "Rose Marie" next week and rehearsals have been under way for several days. At yesterday's rehearsal she was unaware of her pending retirement.

"Rose Marie" will be played by Miss Thompson, who will arrive from New York this evening, and will make her first appearance Monday night. She had the part recently in a repertory production in Denver, Colo. Later this season she will sing the principal role in "The Vagabond King," which she had during the New York run of that light opera.

GARRETT, ILL., BANK ROBBED

Annoyed by a small white dog which snapped at his heels at the corner of Minnesota and Quincy streets this morning, Ralph Lathan, 1746 Mississippi avenue, took a strap from his pocket and swung it at the dog.

Another pedestrian, presumably the owner of the dog, knocked Lathan down. Lathan went to Loren Wishart of Tuscola as he groaned past a girl companion. The dog was also roken into pieces.

Their suspect is the same man.

Board of Aldermen Returns E. B. Colby From Office Indefinitely — Woman Successor Chosen

Ewart B. Colby, city clerk of University City, who was arrested yesterday charged with accepting money from a saloonkeeper, was suspended indefinitely by the Board of Aldermen at a special session today. The board appointed a committee to investigate the charges against him and named Miss Linda Bruns, who was Colby's assistant, as acting city clerk.

Colby is alleged to have received 10 marked $10 bills from the saloonkeeper, who said that he represented the first installment of a $400 fee Colby had demanded for issuing him a license to operate.

Colby refused to make the group, was ordered to make the arrest by Ward, who had come from the restaurant. Colby is said to have dropped the bills, then picked them up and put them in his pocket. The billmatters were arrested at the police station and were found to tally with those taken by Ward before going to the store.

Colby, a bachelor, residing at 6651 Washington boulevard, was appointed City Clerk, July 1, 1916, and has served since. He is appointed by the Mayor and the position had paid a salary of $230 until increased to $310 a month.

INDICTMENT REFUSED IN FIREWORKS TRAGEDY

Grand Jury to Recommend Stricter Laws as Result of Scharlott Explosion.

The grand jury yesterday considered the fireworks explosion which occurred June 29 at Scharlott's 5 and 10 cent store, 3948 West Florissant avenue, and voted a no true bill after questioning 15 witnesses.

Although the jury freed Frank A. Scharlott, owner of the store, of criminal responsibility, it is understood the body will submit recommendations for stricter laws in future, in making its final report to Circuit Judge Calhoun in September.

The Scharlott explosion, in which four children were killed, has been attributed by police to the collapse of an improvised canopy of decorations and electric lights which had been placed over the fireworks counters. A short circuit is believed to have ignited the explosives.

Scharlott, who was held under bond following an accident verdict at an inquest, will appear in Police Court Monday under a charge of selling fireworks before July 1, a violation of a city ordinance, punishable by a fine.

LAVALLIERE, FORMER FRENCH MUSICAL COMEDY STAR, DIES

Famous Quarter Century Ago. She Left Stage to Engage in Religious Work.

(Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, July 12.—Eve Lavalliere, 61 years old, French musical comedy actress, died Wednesday at the village of Thulliere in the Vosges Mountains.

Between 1900 and 1904 Lavalliere was the star of the Theater des Variétés on the Boulevard, the idol of Paris. Kings and Princes vied for the honor of going to her dressing room to kiss her hand. Suddenly at the very peak of her glory she disappeared. All sorts of romantic tales were told to account for her actions. The simple truth was that she had become religious and devoted herself exclusively to works of piety, living in poverty and explaining to intimate friends: "I returned to God by way of the Devil."

Her death fulfilled a prophecy she made Sunday when she said, "I shall die next Wednesday."

COLLECTION OF BACK PREMIUMS AUTHORIZED

Court Issues Order Against Policy Holders of Reciprocal Insurance Company.

An order authorizing the Missouri receiver of the defunct Federal Automobile Insurance Association, an Indiana reciprocal corporation, to levy an assessment for additional premiums covering four years back against its Missouri policyholders, was issued today by Circuit Judge Sale. The purpose of the assessment is to obtain money to pay claims exceeding $1,000,000.

There are approximately 18,000 policyholders of the association in this State, and the receiver hoped to collect at least $250,000 in premiums. Application for permission to collect the fund was made by Roderick H. Abeken, the local receiver, who is operating under a main receivership appointed in Indiana, where a similar order affecting all policyholders has been made.

Judge Sale limited his order so that a policyholder still has the right to make any lawful defense to the assessment. The receiver pointed out that the assessment was in accord with an agreement of the subscribers when they obtained their policies.

MRS. YEATMAN CARR OF ‘CRISIS’ FAME, DIES

She and Her Family Closely Linked to History of Old St. Louis.

Memories of St. Louis divided against itself in the Civil War and of the gay and leisurely society of antebellum days passed away with Mrs. Angelica Yeatman Carr, who died of the infirmities of age yesterday at Missouri Baptist Hospital.

Mrs. Carr had seen St. Louis society pass from lazy, laughter-filled country homes and gracious, formal ways to the round of country clubs and fast roadsters. She had known the “Grape-vine telegraph” of the Civil War in the city that came, in her later years, to think in terms of airplanes and rapid transit.

Her father was James E. Yeatman, the “Mr. Brinsmade” of Winston Churchill’s historical romance, “The Crisis.” She was the Jennie Carvel of the novel. The home of her girlhood was the “center” of the romance, Yeatman’s country home on Bellevue road, now 411 North Eleventh street.

The great brick residence, built more than 100 years ago, was razed in 1920. Its later owners had preserved all its original atmosphere—the great parlor mirror, the spinet, the heavy rosewood bed, the old piano in oils, the kerosene chandelier. Many readers of Churchill’s novel visited the place. In its early days only one house stood between it and the Rocky Branch neighborhood, 12 blocks south, and one of the few homes north of it was the “Bellevue” of the novel, the home of the late Isaac H. Sturgeon.

Yeatman presented a home at Glencoe to his daughter upon her marriage, about the outbreak of the Civil War, to Alfred Carr, a real estate dealer, who died 20 years ago. Across the road was the home of her brother, James A. Yeatman, a Southern sympathizer, although the father, with the South before the war, retained his faith in the Union.

The grape-vine telegraph which carried news—leaked through the lines, had its headquarters in the home of Yeatman’s home at Glencoe, and, to some extent, in Mrs. Carr’s. Confederate soldiers who had messages for Northern sweethearts, and Union soldiers who had messages for Southern girls, hid in the Glencoe hills and left their missives after dark to be passed through the enemy’s lines.

It came to the notice of the Provost-Marshal, and Yeatman was cast into the Gratiot Street prison. All St. Louis knew that his activities had been humanitarian and harmless, and orders were obtained from President Lincoln for his release. Yeatman, dividing with other prisoners the food friends brought him, refused to leave the jail until, stepping outside for exercise, he was locked out.

Many of the incidents in Churchill’s historical novel were written about Mrs. Carr’s home, “Glencoe,” and the romances of several St. Louisans of prominence began in the many social events there after the war. It was a two-story building of stone and wood, built on a knoll that afforded a view for miles over the hills with the great, airy rooms and high ceilings of the period. In the rear were the servants’ quarters, occupied by Negroes who had been slaves of the Yeatman family.

The residence caught fire from a defective flue in 1920 and burned down. Mrs. Carr and a son, J. Yeatman Carr, who still resides at Glencoe, with the aid of neighbors, saved a collection of oil portraits which had been in the family for generations. She had resided at Glencoe since the Civil War.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carr, who was 87 years old, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the residence of a son, Peyton Carr of 62 Vandeventer place with private burial. She is survived by two other sons, Alfred, C. Carr of 5719 Cabanne avenue and Charles Y. Carr of St. Regis Mo.

PLAN FOR UNITING EUROPE TO BE SUBMITTED TO LEAGUE

Briand Has Already Consulted Powers About Founding of Federation.

(Copyright 1930 by the New York World Publishing Co., Inc. and Post-Dispatch.)

PATRIOT—July 13—Briand, Foreign Minister of France, is about to try to transform into a reality his long cherished dream of the formation of a United States of Europe.

He will ask the League of Nations next September to call a conference to discuss means for creating such a European federation. Briand, who in his own mind, has been evolving the foundation for this project for years, has already consulted European Governments represented at the League and has discovered that quite a number of them are favorable to it.

Formation of an economic union of European states would be the first step toward realization of Briand’s project, to be followed eventually by a political federation. The statesman who has been at the head of 11 French Governments wants Europe to become conscious of its unity as the United States of America is conscious of its unity.

An example of the plan’s advantages he points out there would no longer be any need to worry over possible unions between Austria and Germany. The minorities problem would disappear along with customs barriers and passports. Briand does not feel that his plan is Utopian.

DEBATE ON FRENCH

DEBT IS ADJOURNED

Poincare Urges Ratification of

Mellon Pact—Vote Likely

Next Friday.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 12.—The Chamber of Deputies today voted to adjourn the present debate on ratification of the war debts until next Tuesday.

The decision came upon the plea of President Buisson who asked Parliament to adjourn until then, taking into consideration the health of Premier Poincare who made a 10-hour speech yesterday and had not concluded his plea in behalf of ratification this evening.

"We must take things as they are," Poincare said in his speech today. "It is not enough to appeal to the noble sentiments of nations. Nations are egoistic collectivities. Men are men," he added. "Even our financial restoration would be an argument against us."

The Premier recalled that when Secretary Mellon visited France recently he refused to talk on the debts. It was then that the French Government got the understanding with other nations for a committee of experts to draft a plan which created a liaison, in fact if not in law, between the payments of the debtors and the creditors."

It was thus Poincare linked the debts to Britain and America with the reparations payments. France, he said, had finally obtained a long-sought point in this fashion.

He cited the Chamber article of the Mellon-Bergeron agreement which authorized the United States to throw on the market French obligations given during the war, which yesterday he described as exactly as binding as French Treasury bonds.

Secretary Mellon, he said, however, had written him America had no thought of ever doing this in any way to injure France. In any event, he said, he had no thought of ever doing this in any way to injure France. In

HOOVER TO ATTEND OHIO CANAL OPENING

Cruise Down River to Be Made
With Dedication at Cincinnati Oct. 15.

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—The Ohio River, winding 1,000 miles through an important industrial district, will attract President Hoover to Cincinnati Oct. 15 to dedicate its canalization, a Government project providing a year-round route for commerce.

Fifty years ago shippers transported wares on the Ohio River only six months in a year. At times the water was less than one foot deep.

The Federal Government in 1875 decided to control the river's depth by constructing a series of dams and locks. The first was built just below Pittsburgh. Since then 48 other dams have been built, the last of which will be completed this summer, assuring shippers a continuous nine-foot stage during the entire year. The project cost $110,000,000.

Cruise Starts Oct. 15.

On board the flagship Cincinnati, other river steamers and excursion boats, freighters, barges, Government dredges, tugs, scows and pleasure craft will assemble at Pittsburgh and the following day the cruise down the Ohio to Cairo, Ill., will commence. President Hoover will join the party at Cincinnati, where he will speak.

The President will spend the night on a boat, leaving the water at Louisville, where he will inspect a new hydraulic dam. From Louisville, Mr. Hoover may go by train for further observations of the lock system. The river craft will reach Cairo Oct. 15.

Good to Make Cruise.

James W. Good, the Secretary of War, will remain with the river pageant throughout the cruise.

Col. Harley B. Ferguson, United States division engineer in charge of the Ohio River improvement, stationed at Cincinnati, said that with the river system completed the Government hoped it had been made possible for shippers to increase commercial activities at lower cost.

Had $1,000,000 tons of commerce were sent down the Ohio in 1928. Comparative figures show that more tonnage passed down the Ohio last year than was cleared through the Panama Canal.

15,000,000 in Area.
The Ohio River and its tributaries drain an area in which reside 15,000,000 persons, about one-eighth of the nation's population. Starting at Pittsburgh, the steel center, the Ohio river connects industrial cities of Steubenville, Wheeling, Huntington, Ashland, Cincinnati, Louisville, Owensboro and Paducah.

Shipments of oil, gasoline and steel promise to increase enormously with completion of the project, Col. Ferguson said. Principal tonnage consists of coal, coke, sand, gravel, steel, cement, oil, gasoline, lumber and unclassified packet freight.

HARRY K. THAW'S BOOK WORTHLESS, HE INSISTS

With 45,000 Copies Unsold, He Contests U. S. Valuation of 66 Cents Apiece.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Harry K. Thaw today appealed to the United States Board of Tax Appeals from a decision of the Internal Revenue Bureau assessing him $70,000 deficiency tax for 1926. Thaw's return for that year showed an income of $80,324, of which the bureau held $55,180 was subject to tax.

The disagreement between Thaw and the bureau arose over publication of his book, "Traitor," on which he claimed a loss of $22,718, while the bureau allowed a loss of $3680. Thaw published 50,000 copies of the book, which he said cost $27,250, while the bureau placed the cost at $21,170. Thaw still has unsold 45,000 copies of the book which the bureau valued at $66.22 a hundred while Thaw said they were worthless.

WORLD FLYER HURT IN CAB

German Baron on Way to El Paso Field to Resume Trip.

By the Associated Press.

EL PASO, Tex., July 12.—Baron Friedrich Karl von Warthausen, around-the-world flyer, was seriously injured today when a taxicab in which he was riding collided with another auto. He was seriously cut on the face and body.

The Baron was on his way to the municipal airport, where he planned to resume his Eastern trip, delayed when he broke a spring in his tiny plane in landing on arrival from Tucson, Ariz. Tuesday. He had planned to return to August 10. Yesterday he was to receive a trophy from President Von Hindenburg for his Berlin to Moscow non-stop flight.

NO DELAY FOR MURDERER

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Common Pleas Judge Henry L. Scarlett today overruled a motion for a continuance in the trial of James H. Snook, deposed university veterinarian and confessed slayer of Theora K. Hix, 25 years old, Ohio State student. He ordered that the trial begin July 22 as scheduled.

Judge Scarlett's decision came after testimony of two defense witnesses, Dr. Harry E. Berry of the Athens State Hospital and Dr. George Hefner, Circleville, that they had not had sufficient time to make a proper examination of Snook's mental condition. Dr. Earl E. Gaver testified that the three state mental experts had found Snook sane.

U.S. SEEKS REPORT ON MURDER TRIAL OF TWO MEXICANS

Complaint Made by Embassy That Men Convicted of Killing Merchant Did Not Have Interpreter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—Gov. Caulfield has sent a request to Circuit Judge Rutledge and Circuit Attorney Miller of St. Louis for a report on the case of Miguel Aguilera and Jose Martinez, Mexicans, who have appealed from sentences of death and life imprisonment, respectively, for participation in the murder of Nathan Brodton, St. Louis clothing merchant, during a holdup.

The Governor's action followed receipt of a letter yesterday from Secretary of State Stimson who requested information after the Mexican Embassy at Washington complained that the two men had been tried and convicted without being permitted the use of an interpreter. The two men knew only a few elementary English words, the Mexican Embassy contended.

The Governor said today he would endeavor to give Secretary Stimson all information desired in the case. Personally, he has no opinion of the merits of the complaint, he said, pointing out that so long as the trial is before the courts he has no jurisdiction.

The correspondence is based on the understanding that both men were sentenced to death in accordance with the jury verdict. However, in passing sentence early last week, Judge Rutledge reduced the sentence of Martinez to life imprisonment, holding that there was a difference in the degree of guilt. A third Mexican, David Velasco, is awaiting trial in the case.

Text of Stimson's Letter.

The letter of the Secretary of State follows:

"The Honorable Governor of Missouri, Jefferson City.

Sir—I have the honor to inclose herewith a copy of a translation of a note dated June 29, 1929, from the Mexican Embassy at Washington, relating to the circumstances surrounding the trial before Judge Rutledge at St. Louis, Mo., of Miguel Aguilera and Jose Martinez, Mexican citizens, accused of having murdered Mr. Nathan Brodton.

"If the facts are as alleged, you can recognize that the carrying out of a death sentence of these Mexican citizens might become an important factor in relations between Mexico and the United States. Will you not therefore endeavor to ascertain and advise regarding the facts of this case in order that the department may be in a position to make appropriate reply to the notes of reference.

"I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant."

Translation of Complaint.

A translation of a letter from the Mexican Charge d'Affairs in Washington to the United States State Department follows:

"I have the honor to inform your excellency that on June 11 of this year, the law suit proceedings in the City of St. Louis, Mo., before Judge Rutledge against the Mexican citizens, Mr. Aguilera and Mr. Martinez, accused of having murdered Mr. Nathan Brodton.

"If the facts are as alleged, you can recognize that the carrying out of a death sentence of these Mexican citizens might become an important factor in relations between Mexico and the United States.

Will you not therefore endeavor to ascertain and advise regarding the facts of this case in order that the department may be in a position to make appropriate reply to the notes of reference.

"I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant."

SAYS COUNSEL KNEW HE WAS INNOCENT OF KILLING, SUES HIM
Rockford, Ill., Man Charges Attorney Was Aware of Real Murderers' Names; Wants $50,000.
By the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 12.—A strange sequel to the famous case of Henry D. Olson, found innocent of the murder of a filling station attendant after being convicted and sentenced was begun here yesterday.

A $50,000 damage suit against the lawyer, Harry R. North, who were the real slayers when Olson defended the real murderers and permitted Olson to make a long court fight and be sentenced.

After his conviction, Olson jumped his bond and did not know the real slayers, two Rockford youths who are now in prison, had been found until he read it in a New Orleans newspaper.

Olson charges that North, formerly State's Attorney, defended the Rockford youths, George Bliles and Morris McHam, charged with the murder of Floyd Stotler, the attendant. North, Olson declared, in his bill, knew the young men duplicated Green's record would be treated likewise.

J.D. CARSON CO.
S. E. Cor. Eighth and Franklin Ave.FUSE PLUG LEVEES ARE OPPOSED AT RIVER MEETINGMississippi Flood Control Association in Resolution Urge Revision of the Jadwin Plan.By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12.—The Mississippi River Flood Control Association demanded here yesterday that the Jadwin flood control plan be revised to eliminate fuse-plug levees, provide payment for flow-age and easement rights and assure "full compensation" for lands taken over to build the Birds Point
New Madrid, Atchafalaya, Boeuf and Bonne Carré spillways and floodways.The association indorsed the other engineering principles of the plan as embodied in the 1928 flood control act, but insisted that work on all the spillways except the Bonne Carré, in Louisiana, should be delayed unless the present plan is interpreted to fulfill the demands made yesterday.Resolutions adopted said the Government should allow time for new engineering surveys embracing all the main tributaries, and for further consideration by Congress, before going ahead with the work on three of these spillways. One of the delegates objected to plans for the Bonne Carré and all recommended that work on this spillway and on the main river levees be started immediately.The association accepted New Orleans' invitations for the annual meeting next summer. W. H. Dick, president, and all other officers were elected. J. L. Williams of Oscella, Ark., president of the St.
Francis Levee Board, was made a new vice president.Attacks on the Jadwin plan by United States Senators Caraway of Arkansas, McKellar of Tennessee and Hansell of Louisiana, preceded adoption of the resolutions."The plan is not relief, but an instrument of further sacrifice for the valley," Senator Caraway said.
"We have nothing to be grateful to the Government for. We should not go to Washington as supplicants for alms, but as a people invaded by a national enemy, and an enemy the Government should fight with us."The fuse plug levees opposed by the Senate were Representatives Whitton of Missouri, Wilson of Louisiana, Short of Missouri, Driver of Arkansas and Fisher of Tennessee, would automatically release extremely high water into spillways and floodways. The Congressmen insisted that such levees would be a menace, and asked that means be provided to control the flow not only at the sources of the spillways but along their entire length. They recommend levee systems which would provide, in effect, auxiliary channels parallel to the main stream.The directors asked each of the 28 levee boards to contribute to central funds for assembling data on backwater areas, but executed the Louisiana boards when Harry Jacobs, chief of the Louisiana board of engineers promised to provide the information for his

WORLD BUSINESS MEN TO CONSIDER PLAN AGAINST WAR

Resolution Drawn Favoring Economic Pressure as a Means of Forcing Nations to Keep Peace.

By the Associated Press.
AMSTERDAM, July 12.—After a recess of one day, the International Chamber of Commerce resumed its sessions today with a discussion on the relative merits of private and public ownership, the principal address being delivered by Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, Minn., who emphasized private ownership as superior.

A half dozen technical papers on the subject were read by various European economic experts, all of them stressing the superiority of private ownership.

The conference later adopted a resolution holding that private initiative and private operation of enterprise constituted the most effective instrument to insure the progress of industry and to increase general prosperity.

Barnes analyzed the tremendous growth of American industry and called particular attention to the importance of efficient services in the fields of transportation, communication and power.

Quotes President Hoover.

"Governments may imitate the practices of private enterprise and here and there may occasionally register some advance, but I submit that in these great fields of transportation, communication and electric utilities the significant accomplishments are in overwhelming measure the product of private enterprise," he said.

Barnes also quoted President Hoover as expressing the underlying philosophy that business progressiveness is dependent on competition and that governmental conduct of business would stifle initiative and invention.

A resolution endorsing economic pressure as a means of forcing nations to desist from war was agreed on in a committee meeting today and will be presented formally to the plenary session by Herbert S. Houston of New York.

The association rejected a proposal by the International Chamber of Commerce to condemn the world of business must devote itself zealously to rooting the conception of peace summed up in the words, "security, arbitration and disarmament" and must exert its influence to prevent the causes of economic friction which may result in war. Nations failing to adopt these methods should have no support or encouragement from the commercial world. Business men specifically condemn any desire for profits arising from war trade. . . . For these reasons the International Chamber of Commerce welcomes with enthusiasm the new guarantee of peace recently given to the world by the Kellogg pact."

Discussing the subject of international settlements, the Young plan and the world financial situation, Lord Melchett, head of a huge British chemical combine, said that the Young plan had converted the reparations debt from a political to a commercial obligation. The conversion, he said, was still only a conversion on paper and it remained to be seen whether it became a conversion to a commercial obligation in reality.

Says U. S. Must Help.

He declared that any real or concrete manifestation of the payment of reparations must finally be expressed in goods and service, adding, "there is not sufficient annual production of gold to meet the reparations obligations."

Lord Melchett said that it would be impossible to make a success either of the reparations scheme envisaged by the Young plan or of the new bank of international settlements unless the financial powers of the United States frankly, fully and whole-heartedly assisted.

"It is more especially important that the plan of international settlements be developed in the future into a great organization to deal not only with the reparations problem," he said, "but also with that economic use of the world's gold reserves which is essential to re-establishment of the world's credit on a gold basis in a manner which does not, as now, hamper and restrict the world's industrial progress. Isolation is no longer possible to any industrial country."

ST. LOUIS WILL GET 1930 AIRCRAFT SHOW

Chamber of Commerce Group
Urges This City as Its Permanent Site.

The National Aircraft Show, sponsored by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, will be held in St. Louis next February, it was announced yesterday by Charles L. Lawrence, chairman of the Show Committee.

The event will be held in the National Exhibition Company's building, now under construction on Oakland avenue, adjoining Forest Park Highlands. Ninety percent of the aircraft manufacturers of the United States are members of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and virtually all will be represented at the exhibition, which is the outstanding event of the year in the aircraft industry. Since the St. Louis Air Board had awarded the next annual exhibition was received yesterday by the Air Board of the Chamber of Commerce. A committee representing the Air Board appeared before the Show Committee at New York two weeks ago and urged the selection of St. Louis as a permanent location for the show. The award of the committee is for next year only, but members of the Air Board are hopeful that a permanent designation will be made later.

Facts influencing the selection are that the arena, the central structure of the National Exhibition Building group, has 31,500 square feet of floor space, offers facilities not heretofore available at exhibitions in other cities. The structure has several openings 90 feet wide, sufficient to admit the largest planes without dismantling. The old air field in Forest Park offers a suitable landing place close to the exhibition site, a feature not found in other cities. The Chamber of Commerce Air Board will begin immediately to form plans for the exhibition. In addition to the show proper, entertainment planned will be on hand at Lambert-St. Louis Field and Parks Airport for test flights by prospective purchasers. The exact date of the show will be determined at a conference between air board members and Harry P. Moe to Meet

GILBERT CARTER

FOR WESTERN

AMATEUR TITLE

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—Don Moe, 19-year-old college boy of Portland, Ore., today defeated John Lehman of Gary, Ind., former Big Ten gold titleholder, 3 and 2, to enter the final in the Western amateur golf championship here.

Moe tomorrow will play for the title with Gilbert Carter, Nevada, Mo., who pulled a mild upset in eliminating Art Sweet of Chicago. 3 and 2.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Don Moe, 19-year-old college boy of Portland, Ore., continued his sweep toward the Western Amateur Golf Championship here today by finishing 6 up on John Lehman of Gary, Ind., former Big Ten titleholder, at the end of the first 18 holes of their 36-hole semi-final match.

Moe went out in 34, one under par, while his opponent took 59.

Moe was two under par coming home, sinking a 10-foot putt for an eagle two on the 18th after getting birdies on the 11th an 13th holes.

Moe lost his first hole at the short fifteenth when he missed a short putt for a half and from this point on to the end of the round, Lehman's game improved. Lehman placed his second four feet from the pin on the seventeenth, but missed a four-foot putt to win after Moe had rimmed the cup with a 22-footer in trying for a birdie.

On the thirteenth Lehman was over the green and the ball stopped with his birdie and conceded the hole to Sweet. Sweet leads Gilbert Carter.

In the other semifinal, Art Sweet of Chicago had a one-up advantage over Gilbert Carter of Nevada, Mo., when they went to lunch.

Both of these players were in trouble often in their hip and neck battle to reach the finals. Sweet was one down to the Missourian at the turn but won the tenth and eleventh to take the lead. After dropping the twelfth, Sweet took the next hole with a par but lost the fourteenth. They halved the next two and Sweet won the seventeenth when his opponent was one over par figures. The eighteenth was halved when each scored a birdie.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 12.—Robert Moses Grove, one of the greatest southpaws of this or any other baseball age, recorded his fifteenth victory of the 1929 season this afternoon, when he pitched the Athletics to a 10-to-0 victory over the Browns in the first game of the double-header.

Grove, leading the American League pitchers, has lost only two games, one to the White Sox and the other to the Yankees.

Howley used "Our Gang" against Grove, see also Kinney, Coffman and Wilson. Delker ran for Frisch. Johnson struck out. Douthit singled to left, scoring Delker. Douthit stolt second. Seiph singled to center, scoring Douthit and took second on the throw to the plate. Vance threw out High.

SEVENTH—CARDINALS—Hafey singled to left, hit safely in 11 games. Orsatti struck out. Wilson to third. Gilbert doubled against the right field wall. Wilson's fly went for a double when Babe Herman missed it in the sun. Gilbert stepped at third. Douthit popped to Moore. Flowers threw out Hafey.

YALE AND HARVARD ATHLETES ARE READY FOR INTERNATIONAL MEET

TRACK TEAMS GO THROUGH FINAL WORKOUT FOR BRITISH GAMES

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Mass., July 12.—Harvard and Yale athletes have developed considerable respect for the English athletes from Cambridge and Oxford who will compete against them tomorrow in the ninth international track meet between the various universities. All concerned went through final workouts yesterday. The Englishmen seemed inclined to take their tasks less seriously than their American competitors and they played around the Harvard stadium with track straw hats, but when they did go to work on the track some of them looked impressive, especially Roger Lighthood of Trinity College, Oxford, outstanding quarter-miler.

An air of confidence is not lacking in both camps, but neither is it lacking anything for granted. Harvard-Yale men, particularly, recall that in the last meeting at Stamford Bridge, their team, although favored to win, 19 to 2, was actually taken into camp seven first places to five.

Evan A. Hunter, secretary of the British Olympic Committee, who is coaching the English aggregation, ventured the forecast that Oxford and Cambridge would win five events, their opponents four, and he conceded that three events were doubtful. Hunter thinks his men will carry off first honors in the quarter-mile, half-mile, mile, high hurdles and broad jump, but sees no hope of preventing the Americans from capturing the high jump, shot-put, pole vault and long.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

REFUSE RESIGNATIONS

Officers Re-elected at Annual Convention Despite Legal Difficulties.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12.—W. A. Fraser of Omaha, Neb., yesterday tendered his resignation as sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World because of recent suits against the order in Nebraska and criticisms directed against the administration by the courts. All the other officers also resigned, but the annual convention immediately voted the unanimous re-election of Fraser and his aides to another four-year term.

The offer by Commander Fraser of his resignation came as a climax to the conclusion of the reading of his annual report.

To avoid confusion, the fact was emphasized in the meeting that the parent organization of the Woodmen of the World is known as the Pacific Woodmen Life Association west of the Rocky Mountains to distinguish it from the Woodmen of the World of Denver, an organization that broke away from the original lodge a few years ago.

BORAH DECLARESSenator Asserts House Measure Is "Greatest Disregard" of Promises in Revenue Legislation.OBJECTION MADE TO LEATHER RATECommittee Told Shoe Levy Will More Than Offset Gain to Farmer From Hide Tax.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Further evidence that the international aspects of the pending tariff revision will receive no consideration in the Senate is given by the statement of Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee that "the effect abroad is one of the elements which ought to be considered in making a tariff."

At the same time, he has made clear that he thinks the real complaint against the House tariff bill, which he describes as showing the greatest "disregard of the pledges of a party" in the history of such legislation, "is with our own people and not with the people abroad."

Citing the "mergers and the combines which are being formed with reference to everything which goes into one's stomach and onto his back" and holding that the House bill encourages them, he emphasizes his opinion that it is the American people who have justification for their protest.

Borah's comment on the numerous protests from foreign governments and interests against various proposals in the bill, which have been placed before the Senate Finance Committee.

"It is natural, and I think perfectly proper for foreign people to bring to our attention what they conceive to be the probable effect of our proposed legislation relative to the tariff, and, of course, we should always take into consideration what the probably effect abroad will be because we are interested in our foreign trade."

Objection to Leather Duty.

A Senate sub-committee was told yesterday by Fred Breckman of the National Grange that the farmer could be harmed rather than helped by proposed duties on hides, leather, shoes and sugar.

Breckman declared there could be no doubt that the House rates on hides and shoes would "work to the distinct disadvantage of the farmer" and that the farmer would receive no benefit from the proposed tariff on sugar.

The duties on shoes, he said, were so disproportionate to those on hides that the benefit from an increased price for hides would be more than offset by the duties on shoes.

Appearing in opposition to a duty on long staple cotton which the bill leaves on the free list, H. F. Lippitt, former Senator of Rhode Island, declared American producers would not benefit by a duty even though much Egyptian cotton is now imported. While the three domestic types of long staple cotton are comparable in length to the foreign, in other respects, he said, they did not compete with the Egyptian.

Fair Cordova Davila, representing the Porto Rican coffee industry, asked that coffee imported from Colombia be taken from the free list and made dutiable at 10 cents a pound.

Abraham Lincoln of Honolulu, appearing for the Hawaiian coffee industry, asked for a reasonable duty on coffee.

Eliza Hanson, representing the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, urged another sub-commission to retain newspaper paper and all its component elements, including wood pulp, on the free list.

Edge's Personal View.

Senior Edge of New Jersey, a Republican member of the Senate Finance Committee, expressed the personal opinion that a number of reductions in existing tariff rates and proposed in the House bill could be made "without injury" to anyone.

Edge added that after presentation of testimony before three subcommittees on industrial schedules, some increases in existing duties in the House bill also appeared justified.

Should the formula of basing rates on difference of cost of production here and abroad be adopted, he said, no complaint could be justified, "whether agriculture or industry has the higher average."

Declaring the Borah resolution to confine the revision to agricultural and related products, which was defeated in the Senate by one vote, never had the "slightest justification," the New Jersey Senator said the wisdom of conducting hearings on industrial tariff schedules.

Flyers Tell of Cheering Farewell at Santander, Their Trip Across Mediterranean and Wild Reception in Rome.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

By Roger G. Williams, pilot, and Lewis A. Yancey, navigator, of the trans-Atlantic airplane Pathfinder, which Wednesday night completed its journey from Old Orchard, Me., to Rome.

(Copyright, 1929.)

ROME, July 12.—After we arrived in Rome, we stayed up chatting until 2 o'clock telling the details of our flight to Santander, Spain, and of the day's journey to the Italian capital. Even before we reached the Spanish coast we saw several mirages and many times were sure we saw land. What we saw seemed as real as Coney Island, with its sandy beach, its rollers and breakers. Yet we were hundreds of miles from Portugal or Spain.

Once, we were sure land was ahead of us, just at the horizon, and headed straight for it. Soon afterwards the land, the rollers and the beach vanished as a moving picture shot, and we had only clouds to gaze upon. Everything had been a mirage, with beach and mountains pictured above the clouds. Then we grew wise. When "land" next appeared, we waited to see whether it wasn't just another mirage, and it was. After we had landed at Santander, the local authorities appeared one after another and almost choked us with their kindness and effusive attentions. They kept us up nearly all night, when we wanted rest most. We went to bed early in the morning and were up again a few hours later to get the plane ready.

Delayed by Overhauling.

But the time taken to get the Pathfinder overhauled and repaired delayed our departure till 11 a.m. The moment young women gathered around the plane, throwing flowers at us and shouting "good luck." They nearly mobbed us again.

We longed to be in the sky, less dangerous than on the ground, for we feared our plane might be demolished in the rush of the amiable and excited Spaniards, their wives and sweethearts. But finally, we took off, and our last view of Santander beach, thronged with waving and shouting spectators, created a profound impression.

The clouds no longer troubled us. The Pyrenees were a vision of glory. Gradually we picked up altitude, but not enough to lose sight of the picturesque landscapes of the rocky shore of the Bay of Biscay.

As we fixed our course toward Rome along the northern slopes of the Pyrenees, we decided to enjoy the panoramic view, since the worst of the ocean crossing was passed. We were cheerful as could be. We first headed the Pathfinder straight for Marseilles, which suddenly came into view in the distance like a brilliant mirrage.

There was a wide, inland lagoon with green olive lined shores, and to the south was the lovely blue of the Mediterranean.

SAFETY AT DRILL.

As we sailed over the outside of the port we saw a French naval squadron going through maneuvers. Our plane must have appeared to be a strange intruder, and an officer pointed his field glasses skyward to see who we were and where our ship hailed from. We passed out of his sight soon, however, and decided that then we would follow the Riviera for a while.

FULL LOG OF FLIGHT.

Our trip over the Atlantic was the first in which the log of the whole voyage was kept. The notes were made by Yancey, an expert mariner, who noted the currents, direction of winds, visibility, and all points which are useful for the flyer, weather bureau, and future navigation.

Our scheme, and the reason for the name of the Pathfinder for our good ship, was to lay out a route for regular service from America to Europe. They would stop in Spain, the Azores and Bermuda, with New York the terminus.

STIMSON'S GOAT ENTERS U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—William Harrison Bones, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's pet goat, entered the United States yesterday. The Department of Agriculture at first barred the animal because the hoof and mouth disease is prevalent in his homeland, the Philippines. Bones was given to Capt. E. A. Reiger, head of Stimson's now at the Presidio here, and is expected to join the Old Sock, the Secretary's parrot, at Washington, within a short time. Stimson acquired the goat when he was Governor-General of the Philippines.

ROME, July 12.—Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams, heroes of the first trans-Atlantic flight from America to Italy, were centers of a noisy demonstration in the Piazza Colonna this evening.

Black-shirted Fascists cheered to them when planes roared overhead. They were introduced to the crowd by the Governor of Rome, with whom they exchanged embraces.

The two men, already tired of receptions and dinners, are expected to make a test flight in their plane, the Pathfinder, which has been gone over at Littorio aerodrome. It has been on more or less public display there and has excited intense curiosity.

Marquis de Pinedo, the dean of Italy's trans-Atlantic aviators, who tried to press around us, the strong including many distinguished persons, Americans as well as Italian officials. We left him to regret that Premier Mussolini left the flying field just a few minutes before we appeared, after he had waited for us for an hour and a half.

But Balbo and Gen. De Pinedo, two of Italy's famous flyers, insisted on driving us as soon as we could get through the crowd, by special orders from the Premier, in his residence at Torlonia palace. We received the warmest and most friendly welcome from him. He embraced us, patted us on the shoulders and greeted us in Italian. Then he began speaking in English, his face expanding in a broad smile as he expressed his joy and offered us his compliments on our achievement.

The aviators will receive a high decoration of the Italian Government, probably the Order of Saints Lazarus and Maurice, when they visit King Victor Emanuel next Monday.

Their day yesterday was climaxmed with a luncheon with Premier Mussolini in his Villa Torlonia. Then he began speaking in English, his face expanding in a broad smile as he expressed his joy and offered us his compliments on our achievement.

CHARLES S. WILSON GETS FEDERAL FARM BOARD POST

Former New York State Commissioner of Agriculture Selected by Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Charles S. Wilson, former New York State Commissioner of Agriculture, has been appointed to the Federal Farm Board.

One vacancy now remains to be filled, and the President is looking for a successor to Mr. Wilson, whose growing industry fair that place. It was said today that the appointment could not be expected until some time next week.

Wilson operates a farm near Rochester, N. Y., and has had extensive experience in dairying and fruit growing. He was recommended by agricultural organizations and individuals for a place on the board.

The plans of President Hoover to spend the weekend at his fishing residence on the upper waters of the Rapidan River were canceled this afternoon when word came that the roads leading to the camp were impassable because of hard rains last night and the night before. He arranged to spend the afternoon at the White House in conference with Alexander H. Legge and Carl Williams, the two members of the Farm Loan Board, who are now in town.

PRUSSIA SEEKS TO DEPORT TWO CONVICTED IN BORAH FORGERY

Russians Found Guilty of Trying to Sell Documents to New York Correspondent.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 12.—Prussian police authorities have applied for an order of immediate expulsion as undesirable aliens of Vladimir Orloff and Peter Pavlovsky, who were sentenced yesterday to four months' imprisonment each for forging documents and defrauding.

Application for the expulsion order followed the release of the two men who already had been in jail for months awaiting trial. Both were turned over to the police again despite the objection of their counsel, Walter Jaffe.

The men were brought to trial after attempting to sell documents to Hubert R. Knickerbocker, Berlin correspondent of the New York Evening Post.

The aviators will receive a high decoration of the Italian Government, probably the Order of Saints Lazarus and Maurice, when they visit King Victor Emanuel next Monday.

Their day yesterday was climaxmed with a luncheon with Premier Mussolini in his Villa Torlonia.

The Americans want to keep their promise to the French flyers, Assolant, Le Ferre and Lotti, that they would have a reunion in Montmartre, if both crews succeeded in crossing safely.

During the latter part of next week the two will fly to England, will have their plane crated there, and then sail for home. They also hope to stop at Bologna to visit Maj. Ferraris, noted Italian flyer, who is in hospital there, having undergone an operation.

Yancey and Williams have applied for an audience with Pope Pius through Msgr. Burke, rector of the American College. They will be received tomorrow or Sunday.

Pilot Plan Return Flight to the United States.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The American Aeronautical Corporation announced today that a telegram had been received from Italy stating that Roger Q. Williams and Capt. Lewis A. Yancey are contemplating a return flight to the United States in a flying boat.

The message was from the Savoia Marchetti Co. of Milan, manufacturers of flying boats in Italy.

The pilots would make three stops in their return flight to America. They would stop in Spain, the Azores and Bermuda, with New York the terminus.

SANDINISTA TO KEEP UP CAMPAIGN

Nicaraguan Exile Assails American Imperialism.

By the Associated Press.

MERIDA, Yucatan, July 12.—The exiled Nicaraguan leader, Gen. Augustino Sandino, arrived here yesterday from Vera Cruz to make Merida his temporary residence. Sandino received an ovation from the time he landed from the steamer at Progreso until he concluded an address before a mass meeting in the Varietades Theater.

The General, who was accompanied by his brother and members of his staff, told his auditors that nobody knew the object of his mission and that although American imperialism had sought to undermine and intimidate them, he and his comrades would continue their campaign to defend the sovereignty of Nicaragua.

BATTLE OF BOYNE ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated With Usual Fervor in Northern Ireland.

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 12.—The six northern counties today celebrated the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne with customary fervor. There were many public meetings at which resolutions were adopted expressing joy over the King's recovery.

The Battle of Boyne was fought in 1690 on the banks of the Boyne River, the armies of William III of Orange defeating a smaller force of James II, last of the Stuart kings. The victory, preceding the massacre of Glencoe, established William, a milder monarch than his father-in-law, James II, on the British throne.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Marquess of Townsmere, Mayor of Lyndhurst, England, paid her respects to President Hoover today. She was accompanied by her son, Lord Townsend. They were presented by Sir Ernest Howard, British Ambassador.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate iniquities or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory piracy or predatory poverty.

Compton Av. as a Through Street. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT is the use of making all this fuss about a driveway to relieve the congestion on Grand Avenue? What is the use of going to the terrible expense of widening and straightening and cutting through Spring Avenue when there is a through street only 30 seconds (for the stop) from Spring Avenue to the east of it and extending about a break and with a viaduct over the railroad tracks, from Carondelet (Bates street) to Easton Avenue. I have reference to Compton Avenue. On it there is only a single car track, on which there is a car every 10 minutes between Shendoah and Park avenues.

This street is in excellent condition except for a short distance on the extreme north end, but it is not used to anywhere near its capacity and why? Possibly for the same reason that people mow and till through the crowns of trees which shade who have no real business there. The motorist seems to think that it is necessary that he see and be seen on Grand boulevard, and, rather than have the clearway on Compton Avenue will make his innumerable stops behind street cars, take a chance of killing some of the thousands of passengers who board or alight from these cars, or depending on the boulevard stop signs, is at the mercy of the idiot who disregards them.

It is also to be hoped that the shameful notion of taking away the parkway on Page Boulevard will not be carried through. Does everything have to be sacrificed to speed maniac and his machine?

How to Protect Trees From Caterpillars. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT is high time to the cotton around the trunks of your trees to keep off the caterpillars. Buy a roll of cotton batting, cut in strips about 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 inches wide. Now rub off the rough bark, lay the smoothest side around against the trunk, put twine on cotton about one inch from bottom of cotton: take good strong cotton twine, if the thin kind put around twice, pull tight, tie in sure knot, cut ends off not over one-half inch long outside of knot. Now roll top part of cotton gently downward until it comes even with a little over bottom cotton. This will make a loose wall over which the caterpillar very seldom can climb.

In a few days you will find lots of caterpillars on the trunk below the cotton, amongst them females, who have begun to deposit their eggs on their backs, looking for a chance to get past the cotton up in the trees to nest them. Now destroy them. All uneven spots or hollows on trunk fill out with cotton so caterpillars cannot crawl up under cotton.

What Ails the Cardinals? To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A LL the baseball fans are saying, "What's the matter with the Cardinals?" Here is my reply: They are victims of "Breakitis." Two years ago they "got the breaks," last year they "got the breaks," and this year they "expected the breaks," but the law of averages was against them. I wagered quite a little money (for a laboring man) last year that the Yanks would take every game of the series. I won. When the bases were loaded, and the last out was expected they would finish in sixth or seventh place, and I will be right this time. As individuals they are a good ball team, as a machine to win ball games they are not in the running. Were they to play 12 games with the Browns beginning tomorrow, I believe the Browns would win every game in a walk. It is proper and necessary that a ball club receive what is coming to it, whether it be praise or condemnation.

The only ails the Cardinals have is "the breaks" are against them, and they don't believe they can win unless the "breaks" are in their favor.

Fortune does not smile on those who wait for the "breaks." Success is assured by "going after them." The Browns are a winning ball club, a fighting machine. Why not give them some support?

A HAS BEEN CARDINAL FAN.

Unable to Hear Overtures. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ENJOYING quite often the very good performances of the opera in Forest Park, I only wonder that the leaders of St. Louis does not consider the overture a part of the performance. The coming of people, the rushing around of soda boys and other sellers and the loud conversation of nearly everybody prevented me so far from hearing any of the overtures.

I heard for four years the concerts in the Hollywood Bowl, Hollywood, Calif., where 25,000 to 35,000 people listened motionless from the very first to the very last note of music. Indeed, so motionless that you could hear the traditional pin drop. I wonder why this could not be possible in Forest Park. And furthermore, I wonder what would happen if one of our temperance orchestras, like Toscannini or Molinari, should once conduct the orchestra under these conditions!"

MRS. M. F.

A FALLACIOUS ARGUMENT.

That the Legislature is to blame for the discrimination against St. Louis and the eastern half of Missouri in the program of the State Highway Commission was proved fallacious in the hearing at which St. Louis registered its protest. Mr. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and spokesman for the protesting delegation of St. Louisans, pointed out that while the Legislature did indicate where secondary roads were to be built, it was the commission that gave the Kansas City area five times the pavement upon such roads as has been given the St. Louis area.

The difference in pavement here and there was the principal point made by St. Louis. The Legislature had nothing to do with that, so that discrimination in favor of the Kansas City area was clearly proved against the commission. Nothing the commission has said, and nothing Mr. Gary has said in defense of his regime as chairman of the commission over a period of years has altered that basic fact. The commission was compelled to admit it when Mr. Weisenburger pressed the point. It was not true, as reported, that the answer of the commission took the edge off the St. Louis protest. The edge remains, and it is undulled. The Legislature prescribed the highways, and the commission prescribed the material. It gave the Kansas City area concrete and the St. Louis area gravel. That was the point.

The Kansas City Star is equally beside the point in the matter of gateways. It says that if we count the gateways on the east side of St. Louis we also have seven, exactly as many as Kansas City has. That is true, but we have not counted the gateways which Kansas has built into Kansas City. The east side gateways of St. Louis were built by Illinois. What St. Louis is talking about is the meager return she gets in roads for the immense amount of money she contributes to the building of Missouri roads. It is not, therefore, a geographical situation, as the Star thinks, St. Louis has four gateways on the Missouri side, and Kansas City has seven on the Missouri side. What Illinois and Kansas have done for either city is irrelevant, because what these other states have done has not cost either city a cent. The geographical situation is not such that St. Louis cannot avail herself of a fair return in roads for her contributions to that fine cause.

We agree with the Star that the good roads system in Missouri is a monument to the integrity of the State Highway Commission. St. Louis has never charged the commission with anything worse than leaning to that side of the State from which it chiefly derives. The answer is in the excellent hands of Gov. Caulfield, who will have two appointments to make to the commission of four voting members. Neither St. Louis nor Northeast Missouri is now represented. Obviously, the way to balance the commission is to put on it a man from St. Louis and one from Northeast Missouri.

We do not believe that the tariff bill prepared by the Ways and Means Committee will pass the Senate. If by any chance it should, we do not believe that Mr. Hoover will approve it. A point may be made of the historical fact that no President has vetoed a tariff bill. Grover Cleveland denounced the Wilson bill as "perfidious," but he permitted it to become a law by default. To Mr. Hoover may come the opportunity of setting a precedent by vetoing a customs measure which threatens to envelop us in a world of ill-will, seriously impair our foreign trade, and pile unconscionable taxes on the American people. We have every confidence that Mr. Hoover will prove equal to that opportunity, or obligation, if it comes.

HELEN WILLS' LATEST VICTORY.

Before a distinguished London gallery, which included the Prince of Wales, Helen Wills easily defeated Capt. Cazalet, whom the news identifies as "former amateur squash racquets champion of Great Britain and a renowned tennis player." The result presumably, will inspire the usual volume of speculation as to how soon women will equal or surpass in the once exclusive masculine field of athletics.

The sensible answer to that question is, of course, never. Let us look at Helen Wills, which is surely not difficult to do. Her game is certainly not a representative woman's game; it is more like a man's. She is the world's champion by reason principally of the extraordinary power of her stroke, in which respect it is equal to that of most of the star men players. Fritz Mercier, an American first-fighter whom Miss Wills once vanquished, acknowledged that the novel is the most potent mold of thought in a literate civilization. That is, the novelist takes a segment of life and presents through his characters a picture of the time that does for the whole. It was so that Harriet Beecher Stowe aroused the North against slavery with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." That novel was a more potent force than all the orators in the United States Senate to let the progressives go ahead with a committee inquiry if they want one—the power industry turns to the novel.

James Harvey Robinson, the historian, has said that the novel is the most potent mold of thought in a literate civilization. That is, the novelist takes a segment of life and presents through his characters a picture of the time that does for the whole.

Language to Be Abolished

AVE you heard the latest from Paris? You haven't! Well, you'll be surprised!

The English language has been abolished! Positively wiped out! and what's more, every other language is going to be tossed into the garbage can of things outmoded.

You see, it's another important step in the direction of absolute emancipation for the race. Down with all forms of tyranny! Hooray for freedom!

But how, the reader may ask, can language be regarded as tyrannical? Only the hopelessly slave-minded could ask such a question. The German, for instance, has been boasting us writing people around with their oppressive "rules" long enough! Ain't we free men and women? And there's the hubbub dictionary, always telling us what the very sounds we make with our own free and equal mouths should mean? The idea is as though a sound should mean anything whatever! As though anything should mean anything in an enlightened world like ours! Shall a man be less free than the meanest frog in the greenest puddle or the mangiest monkey in the zoo? Did anybody ever see a free grammar or a monkey dictionary?

It's clearly an intolerable situation for our democratic and supercilious modern age, and we're not going to stand for it any longer. We wish to announce to the cocky universe that our revolt is an accomplished fact.

And who are "we"?

We are a group of American literary nuts living in Paris and we are sufficiently advanced in nuttiness to proclaim boldly what is being practiced more and more conspicuously all over the world—and that not in literature alone, but in every field from industry upward; or maybe downward is the better term. Stated in a general way, this practice is manifested with a rapid increase in activity and a corresponding decrease in the meaning of the same.

The current number of the magazine "transition" announces "The Revolution of the Word" as this latest manifestation of "freedom" is called, and the "Proclamation" reads in part as follows:

The Revolution in the English language is an accomplished fact. The imagination in search of a fabulous world is autonomous and unconfined. The literary creator has the right to disintegrate the primal matter of words imposed on him by text books and dictionaries. He has the right to use words of his own fashioning and to disregard existing grammatical and syntactical laws.

Time is tyranny to be abolished.

The plain reader be damned.

The last line calls for slight consideration, since the wish there expressed seems already to be fairly on the way toward realization, and its complete fulfillment may be left with confidence to our sophists and their go-getting publishers.

Those who are still unsophisticated enough to seek for meanings, might find one in the statement that "Time is a tyranny to be abolished." According to Count Korzybski's illuminating work entitled "The Manhood of Humanity," the statement fits perfectly into the whole process of dehumanization of which this "proclamation" is only a particularly nutty symptom. All distinctly human values, Korzybski points out, are of time. The brutal values are to be described only in terms of space, the traditionless and futureless moment, the meaningless limbo of the mob consciousness. But, alas, it is to be feared that Korzybski is only a highbrow.

We may chuckle over the incidentally silly "proclamation" we're noted, but we should not forget that it is made possible by a very definite world-mood that takes on various disguises in the various fields of human activity and thought and that may prove at length to be no laughing matter.

U.S. CENSUS DISTRIBUTION

COMMITTEE OF 14 NAMED

Members to Assist Commerce Department in Getting Statistics on Industries in 1930.

WASHINGTON. July 12.—A committee of 14 business men and economists has been appointed by Secretary of Commerce to co-operate with his department in formulating plans for taking the first national census of distribution in 1930.

Three other committees are to be named to aid the department in obtaining information on population, manufacturers and unemployment in connection with the decennial census.

Lamont said many students of business believe the distribution census will assist greatly in eliminating wastes in the distribution of commodities from producer to consumer which have been estimated to cost between eight and 10 billion dollars annually.

PASTOR OUSTED BY CHURCH BUT FOLLOWERS RETAIN HIM

Split in First Baptist at Paducah, Ky., Follows Suspensions for Drunkenness, Bigotry and Heresy.

PADUCAH, Ky., July 12.—The Rev. E. D. Clark was ousted by a majority of the First Baptist Church by members and the Board of Deacons Wednesday night, following a division of the membership over the pastorate that had lasted for several months.

The affair is the beginning of a series of dances sponsored by a local club, the Red Cross. There will be three dances a week for the next three weeks. The students will appear publicly for the first time in their fatigued "monkey" caps, similar to those worn by American soldiers overseas when helmets were not required. The old style felt service hat is demanded at drill.

Tomorrow, fully equipped student soldiers, carrying Springfield rifles, will pass in regimental review before Brigadier Gen. G. H. Estes, commanding of Jefferson Barracks.

The Sixth Infantry band will lead the parade.

A camp for parents has been opened under army auspices at the Barracks near the Skinner Training Camp. For a nominal sum, parents may spend the night in tents being supplied with cots, sheets and blankets. Meals also will be supplied at cost. Personal appearance at reville is not required.

Camp soldiers will get week-end leave tomorrow, provided their record is innocent of black marks.

ST. LOUISAN'S FRENCH WIFE FAILS IN DIVORCE SUIT

Paris Court Refuses Decree to Mrs. William B. Butteweller.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 12.—A divorce has been refused Mrs. Georgeette Butteweller from William B. Butteweller of St. Louis, on the ground that French domicile had not been established. They were married at Nanterre, France, Aug. 5, 1920.

Butteweller, who is 34 years old, is a traveling salesman, residing at 516 Waterman avenue with his parents. According to his father, he was not notified that his wife had sued for divorce. The pair resided here and in California for a short time following their marriage, going to Mrs. Butteweller's home in Paris in 1922. Butteweller returned to St. Louis three years ago, leaving his wife and their daughter in France. He was employed in a Paris bank at the time of the marriage.

PARIS, July 12.—A divorce was granted today to Mrs. Vera Arkwright Bate from Frederick Blanford Bate, who was secretary-general of the recent conference of experts on reparations.

Mr. Bate is known as a "commander" to the White House, supersedes all other social obligations—even one's own dinners.

Invitations to the musicals garden parties, the four official receptions and the like are not so binding. Hundreds of these are sent out, but it is left up to the individual whether he cares to attend.

The affair is the beginning of a series of dances sponsored by a local club, the Red Cross. There will be three dances a week for the next three weeks. The students will appear publicly for the first time in their fatigued "monkey" caps, similar to those worn by American soldiers overseas when helmets were not required. The old style felt service hat is demanded at drill.

Tomorrow, fully equipped student soldiers, carrying Springfield rifles, will pass in regimental review before Brigadier Gen. G. H. Estes, commanding of Jefferson Barracks.

The Sixth Infantry band will lead the parade.

A camp for parents has been opened under army auspices at the Barracks near the Skinner Training Camp. For a nominal sum, parents may spend the night in tents being supplied with cots, sheets and blankets. Meals also will be supplied at cost. Personal appearance at reville is not required.

Camp soldiers will get week-end leave tomorrow, provided their record is innocent of black marks.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Desserts Which Will Tempt
Even Jaded Hot Weather Appetites.

The following recipes have been selected from the weekly menus. They offer tempting and economical suggestions for increasing the use of the healthful summer fruits and of providing desserts that are not too heavy for summer digestions.

Baked Huckleberry Dumplings.

Mix and sift two cups of flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar and three teaspoons baking powder. Rub in one-half cup of shortening, using a fork or the fingers and continue the mixture until thoroughly blended. Next add just enough ice water to make a stiff dough—and one-half cup will be required, but add it a little at a time and mix each lot before adding the next. Turn the dough out on a floured board and roll in a square about one-eighth inch thick.

Pick over and wash two cups of ripe blueberries, mix with one-half cup of sugar, two tablespoons of flour and a dash of cinnamon. Cut the dough into four-inch squares and place a large spoonful of the berries in the center of each square. Fold up the corners diagonally and pinch the edges together, making an envelope. Place on a baking pan, cover with foil and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes in a hot oven. Serve warm or cold.

Peach Shortcake With Custard.
Mix and sift two cups of cake flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup of sugar, three tablespoons baking powder. Melt one-third cup of butter or shortening. Beat one egg and three-fourths cup of milk. Add the melted fat and add this to the dry mixture. Beat until smooth, then pour into two well-greased medium-sized layer cake pans and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, peel and slice enough ripe peaches to give four cups of the cut fruit. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar and one tablespoon of lemon juice. Cover until ready to use. Just before serving, put a layer of peaches on the bottom layer of cake, cover with a thick layer of cake, cover with a layer of boiled custard and put on the other piece of cake, add a layer of creamed fruit and then the remaining peaches. Serve, if possible, while the cake is still warm. Any fresh fruit such as raspberries, blackberries, fresh apricots, etc., may be used in this same way. The custard should be cold.

Baked Custard.
Scald two cups of milk. Mix together one-half cup of sugar and two teaspoons of cornstarch, then add two eggs and beat until smooth.

Pour the scalded milk gradually into the egg mixture, then return to the fire and stir constantly until thickened, smooth and boiling. Remove from the fire, strain as the scalded milk. Cool and add a little grated lemon rind or flavor with vanilla or almond extracts. Cool and serve with any fresh or canned fruit.

Baked Caramel Custard.
Put one cupful of granulated sugar in a small, heavy saucepan and stir constantly over a slow fire until the sugar is melted and golden brown in color. It will be quite lumpy as it first begins to melt, but just keep on stirring and do not increase the heat and the lumps will melt.

Remove from the fire as soon as the sugar is golden brown, as it will burn in the next second. Pour one-half cup of boiling water carefully into the melted sugar—the mixture will sputter and boil up, and then become quite lumpy. Return it to the fire and stir until a smooth, brown syrup is formed. This will take about five minutes, and the resulting mixture is caramel syrup. Pour it into a deep baking dish, tipping the dish so that the sides as well as the bottom have a coating of the syrup.

Bake five eggs until light, add five tablespoons of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt and one quart of milk. Mix, pour into the baking dish and place the dish in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven for 50 minutes, or until firm. Remove from the oven, cool and turn out on a serving dish.

Fried Cherry Tarts.
Fit enough ripe cherries to make three cupsful; mix with three-fourths cup of sugar and one tablespoon of flour and heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Boil slowly for five minutes, or until the cherries are tender, then cool. Bake pie crust over six inverted muffin tins or tart pans. Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes. Cool, fill with the cooked cherries, and top with a spoonful of whipped cream or a marshmallow.

Try Tuna Fish This Way.
Drain the oil from a large can of tunafish into a skillet, add enough cooking oil to cover the bottom of the pan. Then add the fish and one cup of boiled rice. Heat, turning constantly. Meanwhile heat two cups of white sauce, and when hot add two tablespoons of capers. Empty the rice and fish out on to a platter and pour the white sauce over it. Decorate with three hard-boiled eggs and cut in quarters.

STYLES CHANGE IN FOOD AS IN OTHER THINGS

Most Persons Live Long Enough to Witness This Peculiar Phenomenon.

Is amusing, and often educational to note how styles change in food as in other things, and how occasionally foods that have been considered most plebeian suddenly attain high rank.

The popularity now given to sauerkraut is an good example of this. Time was not so long ago, when people hesitated to express a liking for this; now it is found on the bills of fare in our most exclusive hotels.

Sauerkraut cocktail, made from the juice, is regarded as a high class appetizer.

Real nutritive value pushed by clever advertising and publicity have given this the place it now has on our food lists.

Sauerkraut is rich in mineral salts and it contains also a small amount of vitamins and a large amount of lactic acid.

This latter gives it its real value, as it has the effect of cleansing and purifying the intestinal tract and preventing auto-intoxication.

Sauerkraut also supplies a good amount of roughage; it is inexpensive; can be used in a number of appetizing ways and combinations and is quite easily digested.

Incidentally, as you no doubt know, it is made from shredded cabbage, pickled and allowed to ferment.

These are just right for salads and desserts. Broadway, Lucky Boy, Owl and Red Robe Brands.

HAN-DEE BREAD

TRADE-MARK
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Sliced Ready to Serve

The Papendick Bakery Company Originates
a Country-Wide Success

For a number of years various efforts have been made to find a practical way to slice bread in quantity and then to package the loaves of sliced bread, but it has only been recently that so modern a way of marketing has been realized.

About two years ago a blue print of a machine that appeared to solve the problem was shown to Mr. Gustav C. Papendick, President of the Papendick Bakery Company, St. Louis.

The idea looked workable, and Mr. Papendick placed an order for the first machine produced, which in due course was on its way to St. Louis.

When the machine arrived, however, the packaging still seemed of doubtful utility, as the sliced bread was held together by hairpin-shaped wires which were inserted at each end of the loaf. To reassure his judgment Mr. Papendick submitted the pinned loaf to Dr. Max C. Starkloff, Health Commissioner, for approval, but Dr. Starkloff declined to give his approval.

Here, therefore, was a serious problem—a machine that cut the loaves into uniform slices with marvelous perfection, but no efficient sanitary manner of holding the slices together.

Mr. Papendick devised what no one had ever thought of before—a shallow fiber tray to hold the sliced loaf—and the success of sliced bread was assured.

And so HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—was placed on the St. Louis market. The public took to it eagerly, and today over a hundred thousand loaves of HAN-DEE BREAD are sold every week in this city. It is now as well known as any high quality established brand of packaged food.

To St. Louis belongs the honor of being the first metropolitan city to adopt sliced bread as the preferred bread by its many thousands of thrifty housewives. So signal has been the success of HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—that it is now to be had in practically every large city in the United States.

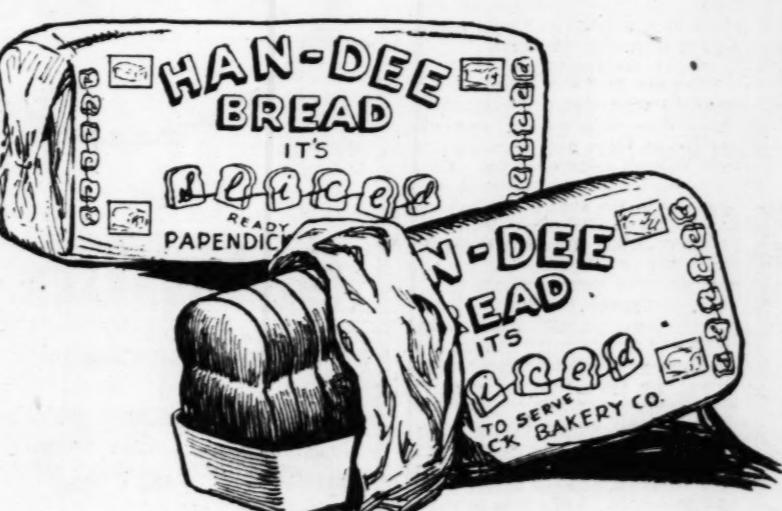

Bread as sliced by the Papendick Bakery Company included an important scientific discovery. Scientists for many years have sought for some means to equalize the moisture content of bread, as in the cooling process the outer areas dried more quickly than at the center.

Mr. Papendick discovered that by slicing the bread and then wrapping it, the moisture is retained and evenly distributed, and the bread holds its freshness longer. This, therefore, is the reason for the continued freshness of HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve.

For serving as bread, for toasting, for sandwiches, HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—the first and greatest success of its kind—is the bread for convenience, economy and health-safety, too, as it does away with the menace of the bread knife.

For an entirely new enjoyment of bread, buy HAN-DEE BREAD sliced ready to serve.

SUMMER SANDWICHES MADE OF VEGETABLES

They Are Nutritious and Appealing to Warm Weather Jaded Appetites.

Of the many delicious ways of serving vegetables, sandwiches are probably among the newest.

Of course, this type of sandwich is wholesome and particularly appropriate to serve during the hot weather. Children will be found to enjoy eating vegetable sandwiches at luncheon time.

Here are several examples of vegetable sandwiches:

Mushroom Sandwiches.

Mince a few mushrooms fine and cook in butter until done; add two or three tablespoons of cream and thicken with a little butter and flour cooked together until the consistency of a spreading paste. After the mushrooms have been put between narrow slices of bread, toast them quickly in the oven.

Rolled Celery Sandwiches.

Cut one-fourth inch slices of white bread from a rather fresh, moist loaf of bread. Remove the crusts and spread the bread slices with softened butter. Meanwhile, cut stalks of cleaned celery into lengths equal to the width of the bread slices. Fill these stalks with Thousand Island dressing. Place a stalk on the edge of each slice of bread and roll the celery into the bread like a jelly roll. Roll all the sandwiches in a damp napkin and place in the refrigerator for a few hours, and the rolls should keep their shape perfectly.

Cooked Spinach Sandwiches.

Drain cooked spinach and then finely chop. Season with mayonnaise dressing. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread.

Watercress Sandwiches.

Cook watercress fine, mix with salad dressing and spread on white or graham bread.

Green Pepper Sandwiches.

Remove seeds and tough white portion from four green peppers. Pass through food chopper. Cream one-half pound pimento cheese and peppers. Mix thoroughly and spread between thin buttered slices of white bread.

Vegetable and Cheese Rollers.

One cup finely chopped cooked beans, one cup finely cooked cauliflower chopped fine; three-fourths cup cottage cheese, one cup dates finely chopped, two tablespoons French dressing and four tablespoons mayonnaise.

Mix ingredients thoroughly; spread on buttered bread; sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

LARGE DARK RED CHERRIES

ARE FINE FOR SALADS
Women Are Credited With Likin' Men Like Them.

Cherry Julep is a home-made drink which must be tasted to be appreciated. It is made with two cups red cherries, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup sauterne flavoring, one-half cup Maraschino juice, one-half cup mint, one small pineapple and powdered sugar.

Stone and simmer cherries with sugar in a covered saucepan until soft. Chill; add Sauterne, Maraschino and crushed mint. Half fill small glasses with shaved ice; add julep and stir well. Do not put fingers on glasses as this will prevent frosting. Garnish with thin slices of pineapple and mint leaves, dipped in powdered sugar.

Cherry Salad.

Chop one-half cup meat and combine with cream cheese, one-fourth cup thin cream, salt and pepper to taste and paprika. Remove stones from cherries. Allow six to eight cherries for each serving. Form the cheese mixture into tiny balls and place them inside the stoned cherries. Place on the white heart leaves of crisp lettuce and garnish with cream dressing.

Cherry Pudding.

Two and one-half cups sifted flour, one cup milk, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon melted shortening, two eggs, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and a box of sweet cherries, stoned.

Beat all ingredients together except cherries and add to batter. Turn into buttered mold and steam over water. When ready to serve make a sauce of the cherry juice, thickened with cornstarch, and sweetened with sugar. Teaspoon of rum extract may be added to give extra flavor.

VEGETABLE CONSONNE MAKES SEVERAL JELLIED DISHES

Jellied consomme makes one of the most appetizing beginnings for a hot weather dinner, and can be very quickly made by adding two teaspoonsfuls of plain, granulated gelatin to three cups of canned or home-made consomme.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice and a few drops of Worcestershire sauce give added zest and flavor.

Soak the gelatin in a little cold water for five minutes, add to the hot soup and set aside to chill.

By adding an additional teaspoonful of gelatin you have an excellent base for a jellied vegetable salad or meat loaf.

Let the mixture cool until it begins to stiffen, then add three cups of mixed raw and cooked vegetables, or of thinly sliced or diced cold meat, and diced celery or cucumbers. Serve either with cream or lettuce and a well-seasoned mayonnaise.

Use Fruit Purées.

By adding a fruit purée obtained by forcing fruit either fresh or canned through a coarse sieve, plain lemonade, orangeade or iced tea takes on new character.

A Large Dishpan Will Serve the Purpose Just As Well.

Sterilize in the wash boiler from one to four hours according to the table given below. When the boiler is filled, cover, wait until the water boils again and turn down to low heat. One can leave the kitchen as soon as the jars are put in the boiler.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Making a Systematic Schedule
Simplifies the Marketing Problem.

Planning meals and buying the food supplies for the home are two of the most important duties of the homemaker. A carefully planned and systematic order of weekly meals and marketing simplifies housekeeping and makes for a considerable saving of time—factors that should be considered at all times of the year, but especially in the summer.

Simplified cooking is certainly in order in these hot days, but how much it can be simplified depends on the menu planned.

By planning ahead and shopping for several days at a time, by making wide use of one-piece meals, and of ready prepared or quickly cooked foods, plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, eggs and milk, you will find that you will have more time to spend out of doors and less time in the kitchen.

The meals given in this week's menu have been selected with the idea of providing ample nourishment with as little work as possible for the housekeeper.

Breakfasts and luncheons are very simple, usually only one dish is suggested, and very often this is such an easy meal that it can easily be prepared on the stove.

Several luncheons are cold meals entirely, and in almost every case a salad of some sort is served.
Fish is a good warm weather food, and it makes delicious salads and sandwiches; and sandwich lunches, by the way, are always popular. See that lettuce or cress makes part of the filling and serve a fruit beverage, buttermilk or iced coffee, with them.

Most people prefer to have their main meal on Sunday in the middle of the day and a light supper at night. In warm weather this latter meal may very attractively be a porch meal consisting of a gelatin or plain salad, small bread and butter sandwiches, or tiny hot biscuits, cake and a hot or iced beverage.

By planning ahead most of this can be prepared on Saturday; even the biscuits may be made, shaped and kept in the ice box until just before tea time on Sunday. A very hot oven, allowing 15 minutes for baking while you are arranging the meals of the day. In the supper planned in the menu used for this week, I have followed this plan.
A salad of tomatoes stuffed with flaked crab meat is served with hot biscuits. The custard may be omitted, or a gelatin dessert may be substitute for it. However an ice-cold, well made caramel custard has much to commend it!

There should be enough of the roast chicken left from Sunday dinner to use the next night. In selecting a chicken for roasting or baking it is best to get one that is heavy for its size—that is a four to five pound chicken is a more economical buy than a three-pounder, as it has more meat in proportion to the bone, and will likely provide two meals.

A roast of veal is planned for Tuesday; in buying the select a piece of meat, thin rib or loin.
A six-pound roast should give two meals for a family of five; a three to four pound roast will probably make a dinner and a jellied salad for a lunch or cold supper.

While the fresh summer fruits make the most appeal these days, don't forget that stewed or steamed prunes, chilled and served with orange juice, offer a welcome change in the way of breakfast fruit.

FASCINATING RASPBERRY JAM

These Berries Make a Most Delicious Conserve For Winter Use.

For raspberry jam, pick over and wash ripe fresh raspberries, either red or black. Mash and measure pulp.

Add an equal amount of granulated sugar and let stand overnight or for several hours. Then heat slowly to the boiling point, stirring frequently and boil from 20 to 25 minutes.

If the raspberries are very ripe, two tablespoons of lemon juice will add to the flavor, and should be added just before taking the jelly from the stove. When cooked pour into sterilized jars and cover with paraffin.

A HEARTY EGG DISH

Main Dishes Made of Eggs Are Seasonable in Summer.

Eggs are delicate, taking six eggs measure. Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, half teaspoon salt, one cup milk, half pound American cheese, two tablespoons prepared mustard, two tablespoons breadcrumbs and crushed onions.

Melt butter, add flour, gradually add milk and cook two minutes. Remove from stove, add half of the grated cheese and seasoning.

Carefully open eggs in a baking dish (greased). Cover with sauce, sprinkle with the rest of cheese and bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven about 12 minutes.

Chocolate Ice Cream.

Put two squares bitter chocolate in double boiler with two tablespoons hot water and three-fourths cup granulated sugar. When melted, whip two cups single cream Add one teaspoon vanilla. After whipping, let cream stand ten minutes to warm slightly. Chocolate will then blend evenly. Then add chocolate and freeze until hard.
Take tray out of refrigerator. Add four tablespoons plain cream and stir until soft and mushy. Freeze again. Recipe makes six to eight servings. Freezing time, approximately four hours.

Fruited Beverages FOR SUMMER USE

Cooling Draughts That Are So Necessary a Part of Hot Weather Menus.

Now that the hot weather has really arrived, there is a constant demand for icy cold beverages and made drinks for the custom of offering summer guests a cool and refreshing drink is being very generally observed.

Concocting palatable punches and fruit ales is an art that is being revived. Consequently, recipes for new drinks are being released almost daily.

The average person will find it comparatively easy to make any of the following attractive beverages:

Loganberry Punch.

Take three boxes of loganberries, two quarts water, one quart water, one pint ginger ale, one-half cup lemon juice and one and one-half cups sugar.

Mash loganberries, add water and let stand one-half hour. Put on fire, simmer gently until fruit is very pale. Strain through jelly bag. Make syrup by boiling together one quart water and sugar. Cool and add fruit juices. Add ginger ale just before serving.

Currant Punch.

Take three boxes of currants, two quarts water, one quart water, one pint ginger ale, one-half cup lemon juice and one and one-half cups sugar, one-third cup

Lemon Juice, one quart water.

Mash raspberries and currants and add two quarts water. Let stand one-half hour. Put on fire, simmer gently until fruit is white. Strain through jelly bag. Make syrup by boiling together sugar and one quart water in covered kettle for 10 minutes. Add to fruit juices and set aside to cool.

Catawba Punch.

Catawba Punch is another charming beverage. To make it take one cup sugar, one quart water, one-third cup lemon juice, one quart grape juice, two cups grated pineapple with juice.

Make syrup by boiling together sugar and water for five minutes. Cool, add fruit juices and pulp. Serve very cold.

Lemon Surprise.

Two quarts water, two cups sugar, juice eight lemons and fresh mint.

Make syrup of sugar and water and grated rind of five lemons. When cold, add juice of eight lemons; put in icebox. Serve with chilled ice, garnished with mint.

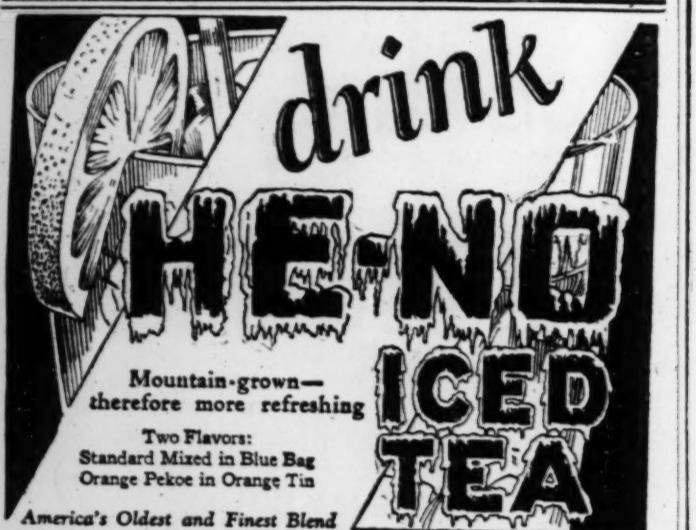

Rhubarb Punch.

Take one quart rhubarb, one quart water, one-third cup orange juice, four tablespoons lemon juice, one and one-half cups sugar syrup, few grains salt and one pint mineral or charged water.

Cut rhubarb in small pieces, cook with water until fruit is soft. Strain through double thickness of cheesecloth, add orange juice, lemon juice, sugar syrup and salt. When ready to serve pour over a cake of ice in a punch bowl, add mineral water and allow to get very cold.

Cigarette Dressing.

Any Housewife Can Determine When Eggs Are Fresh.

A convenient and quite easy method of testing eggs for freshness before breaking them is to place them in a pan of cold water. The pan should preferably have a flat bottom.

If the egg is perfectly fresh—in fact, newly laid—it will lie on its side on the bottom of the pan. An average so-called strictly fresh egg may tip up slightly at the large end.

The staler the egg the more upright it will stand, and if it floats clear of the bottom, beware of it, for it is sure to be unfit for use.

GARDEN PARTY MENUS ARE MOST IMPORTANT

Summer Days Suggest Al Fresco Meals to All Prospective Hostesses.

Perhaps because fewer people have gardens nowadays in which to give garden parties, an invitation to one meets with more enthusiasm.

Whatever the cause, the hostess who can plan such an entertainment is sure to have few refusals to her invitations!

The "garden party" may be nothing more elaborate than a buffet supper spread on tables under the trees or on the lawn, or it may include a well arranged program of entertainment for the guests.

Food of some sort, and of a good "some sort" is sure to make up a large share of the party, for grownups have not lost the feeling for thin that they had when youngsters!

The menu, then, is the thing that takes attention at this time. It must be well and carefully planned, especially as to details of serving and placement of the food.

Make Table Attractive.
The best plan is to set the table, or better yet, several tables, buffet fashion so that the guests may help themselves. The hostess may arrange to have a friend stationed at each table to point the way and to see that every one is served. This avoids confusion oftentimes, and assures that smooth working of all the cogs that make a party a success.

The silver, dishes and food should all be placed on the tables so that they can be easily and conveniently reached by the guests, and each food must have beside it the utensils necessary to serve it.

Salads and cold jellied dishes are more attractive and easier to handle if attractively made up for individual servings, and then arranged on a large platter or plate.

Garnishes are especially important, for all foods should be both pleasing to the eye and the palate! Platters of cold meats should have a border of crisp parsley or cress, and be decorated with curled celery, radish roses, bits of aspic jelly, olives, etc. Sandwiches should be attractively cut and arranged; salads served on crisp salad greens.

Menu Suggestions.
An assortment of cold sliced meats, including tongue, a jellied meat loaf, thin pink slices of baked ham, salami and roast veal or chicken; a platter of stuffed deviled eggs or of eggs in aspic jelly; sandwiches of watercress, of cucumbers and of lettuce made with both white and whole wheat bread; relishes such as celery, olives, potato chips and tiny sweet pickles; ice cream, cake and a hot as well as a cold beverage.

Tiny buttered rolls may be added to the menu, and a plain or jellied vegetable salad, a meat or fish salad included to make a more elaborate meal.

A platter of hors d'oeuvres might very well be added.

It is best to plan only cold food, unless one has very competent service and plenty of room for guests to be seated, for it is a difficult thing to handle hot plates standing up. Also remember that hot foods cool very quickly out of doors, and are as quickly unappetizing.

I have not included recipes for the dishes mentioned above, as they are all simple and may be found in any good modern cook book.

One parting word—see to it that the foods in your menu are well seasoned, are attractively arranged and daintily served, and that the serving is so planned that there is ample room for used dishes and for dishes to use.

SEVERAL INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT A FAVORITE FOOD

Where Ice Cream Originated and How Coldness Affected Its Taste.

You know that the making of ice cream dates back many hundreds of years and originated in Italy?

From Italy this process of freezing mixtures of cream and fruit juices traveled to France, from thence to England, and from England it was brought over to the American Colonies early in the eighteenth century.

Today the United States uses more ice cream than any other country in the world.

In making ice cream, the mixture is usually sweetened more than it would be if it were not frozen.

For instance, a custard ice cream is made much sweeter than a plain boiled custard.

We say that frozen mixtures lose some of their sweetness during the freezing, but what really happens is that the coldness of the ice cream retards the action of the taste buds in the mouth, and that some of the flavor is really lost to the sense of taste.

You can prove this for yourself by the fact that after ice cream is melted, it tastes much sweeter than when it is frozen.

A Word of Caution.
The idea that milk can be used with perfect safety until it actually turns sour is not always a good one to follow. Experiments have shown that milk may be unfit for food, but not show it without testing. To be sure the milk you are using is safe, buy the best you can afford, buy it from reliable dairies, and keep it at a temperature below 50 degrees.

Prune Salad.
Drain cooked prunes thoroughly and stuff with blanched almonds. Roll in granulated sugar. Arrange three prunes on each lettuce-covered salad plate, alternating with orange segments.

Poached Eggs On Toast.
Have the water boiling in a shallow pan, salt it lightly and drop in the eggs. Cook them over a low fire, turning them from time to time, having previously broken them into a cup so that they are fresh. Cook till the whites are just set, then lift from the water with a skimmer and place on the hot-buttered toast.

Peach Basket Salad.
To make handles cut strips around orange one-quarter inch wide. Put one-half peach on a lettuce leaf, cut side up; stick handles into each side to form a basket. Mix celery, nuts and dressing and fill cavity with mixture. Garnish with cherries.

SEASONABLE RECIPES FOR SUMMER MEALS

Several Simple Dishes Which the Home Cook Can Readily Prepare.

A general mixed diet containing goodly quantities of milk, cereal, green vegetables, both raw and cooked, some meat, eggs, butter and fruit, offers the best means of doing away with any worry as to whether you are getting enough iron or lime, vitamins, etc. In other words, such a diet meets the average individual requirements.

The following recipes fit in nicely in menus for a general mixed diet.

Pressed Chicken.

Follow any recipe for pressed chicken, and when it is beginning to fill, add green peppers from which all seeds have been removed with the mixture.

When ready to serve, cut with a sharp knife in one-half-inch slices and serve about three to a plate. Serve the salad on the same plate with the pressed chicken before bringing it to the table. Top each slice with a slice of tomato.

Meion Salad.

Cut cantaloupe and the heart of watermelon in balls or cubes. Sprinkle lightly with a mixture of one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. Chill thoroughly, drain well and serve on lettuce with cream mayonnaise.

Steamed Sweet Potatoes.

Fare and cut potatoes in eighths; place in covered casserole with water. Steam one and one-half hours. Dress with butter, salt and pepper and onion have been added.

Ice Cream Parfait.

One pint container of vanilla or fruit ice cream. Combine lightly with one cup of diced pineapple, add a cup of strawberries or raspberries. Garnish with whipped cream and serve at once.

Cheese-Pimento Salad.

Toss together finely chopped hard-cooked eggs, celery and sweet pickles. Add French dressing and toss again. Arrange nests of shredded lettuce on service plates. Place egg mixture in center and serve with mayonnaise into which finely chopped pimento, pepper and onion have been added.

Egg and Celery Salad.

Toss together finely chopped hard-cooked eggs, celery and sweet pickles. Add French dressing and toss again. Arrange nests of shredded lettuce on service plates. Place egg mixture in center and serve with mayonnaise into which finely chopped pimento, pepper and onion have been added.

Cuban Salad.

Cuban salad is the name of this salad made out of soda crackers. Take four large-sized crackers, two sweet peppers, one large onion six anchovies, lettuce and French dressing.

Mix broken crackers, shredded sweet peppers and onion with diced anchovies. Mix well with French dressing and serve on lettuce with cheese biscuit or crackers.

Cheese Pimento Salad.

One small can pimento drained and sliced, three-quarters of a cupful diced celery, one cup cheese, sliced; one-half cup French dressing and a一二 cup cream.

Place the pimento, celery and cheese in layers in a bowl and pour over the French dressing. Let stand for 20 minutes to chill, then turn out on a salad plate.

Wreathe with lettuce or cress and, if desired, with sliced tomatoes, asparagus tips or alternating slices of cucumbers and tomato, which have been allowed to marinate in French dressing.

Salad Dressing.

Take four cups of mayonnaise and add one cup of diced pineapple, add a cup of strawberries or raspberries. Garnish with whipped cream and serve at once.

Huge Boulders Swept Through Streets. Autos Smashed Against Buildings.

EL PASO, Tex., July 12.—A cloudburst hit an exclusive residential district here yesterday. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

The stone foundation of one house was swept from under the building. Parked wagons and automobiles were picked up by the current and smashed into poles and buildings. Chunks of asphalt pavement were torn up and carried away.

Adobe homes of Mexicans in the jowlands were washed away by the water which stood three feet deep until late last night. Southern Pacific trains were delayed, but service today was normal and clearing away of debris was under way.

HOW J. P. MORGAN AIDED CHURCH SCHOLAR

Financier Carried Rare 13th Century From England in His Coat Pocket.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 12.—When the Rev. Arthur Griscom, a New York scholar, some years ago began a collection of Geoffrey of Monmouth's famous history of King Arthur's time, he wanted a certain manuscript. But this manuscript, a thirteenth century Latin text of Geoffrey's "Historia Regum Britanniae," was in the library of Lord Harlech, an English nobleman, on his estate in Shropshire.

He had the manuscript in less private vaults. Griscom's wish would have been easily gratified. He could have had photographic reproductions made of its pages and worked from them. But that was impossible in this instance.

So Griscom did the obvious. He wrote Harlech a letter, identifying himself, describing his proposed work and requesting the loan of the almost priceless object.

Weeks and months passed without a reply. He was no longer thinking of the matter when his telephone rang about six months later. It was J. P. Morgan calling.

Morgan had just returned, he said, from shooting in Scotland with his old friend, Lord Harlech. The latter had asked him if he knew a clergyman named Griscom. Assured of the clergyman's character, the peer had given his manuscript into the keeping of Morgan, who brought over the 90-sheets of vellum in his coat pocket.

For the next year the manuscript was on deposit in the Morgan library, where Griscom studied it. Thus America's premier financier helped make available for scholars an otherwise inaccessible manuscript. But there was still another problem.

In this land of many tongues it is easy to find a translator for any modern language. But when a manuscript in an obsolete language is to be deciphered, the professional translator is of little help. A scholar must be found to do the job. That was the situation which confronted Griscom when he turned from his Latin collation to the study of medieval Welsh manuscripts.

Griscom, himself of Welsh ancestry, had found in Jesus college at Oxford university a fifteenth century manuscript supposed to be a translation of Geoffrey's history. It was evidence, however, being instead a compilation of Welsh traditional history and the work of Walter, archdeacon of Oxford, from whom Geoffrey said he got an ancient British book which formed the basis for his writings which since have been called largely romance.

The canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the Rev. Robert Ellis Jones, was born in Wales and has always been bilingual. To him Griscom sent the manuscript and the canon, although an old man, devoted spare time for the task. Looby, his dog, struck him, but later she mind and declared it was

SCORE ISSUES REACH NEW TOPS ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A buying orgy in the public utility stocks today on the Curb Exchange carried two score issues in all sections of the list to record high price levels. Gains were slightly reduced by profit-taking at the close. The ticker dropped behind the market at the opening and never caught up with the sales, at midday it was an hour behind and at the close was 45 minutes late.

Although trading was at a fast pace, blocks of shares changing hands were not as large as the record days of last month. Sales totaled 2,771,800 compared to the record 3,309,000 established on June 29 last. Cash money held at 9 per cent.

Electric investors again proved to be the spectacular performer, swinging 20 points to a new high record at 259 and retaining all but a few points of this gain at the close. A year ago March this stock sold at 40%. Practically all the utility and industrial stocks in its portfolio have advanced sharply in that period. Electric Bond & Share came within fraction of its record price before selling off. American Sugar stocks got up to 65¢ a new top, on a rise of more than three points, and held practically all of its gain.

The sensational advances scored in the last month by the Central States Electric issues, nearly all of which made wide gains today to record high prices, were today explained by the announcement of an 150 per cent increase in gross earnings for the six months ended June 30 over the preceding 12 months. On the old common this is equivalent to $5.50 a share compared to $2.04 a year before. On the new stock, created by the declaration of a 200 per cent stock dividend, payable July 25, the earnings are equal to $1.82 a share.

The company's principal investment is in North American company. Other holdings include stock in Electric Investors, Northern States Power, Consolidated Gas of New York and Consolidated Gas of Boston.

Other utilities to reach new highs today were Cities Service, Arkansas Natural Gas, Electric Shareholders common and preferred, United Gas Improvement old, United Light & Power "A," Southeast Gas Utilities, Cleveland Illuminating, Allied Power & Light and Middle West Utilities. The last sold at 269, up 20 points from last night's closing, before easing off a few points at the close.

American Cyanamid "P" again set a new peak. This stock has advanced steadily since circulation of persistent reports of a merger. Gulf Oil encountered its first reaction after its advance above 200, but Humble was strong and held around its record top level. Cosden encountered profit-taking. Penn-Mexican Fuel shot up nearly 6 points and then reacted, closing at 33 for a net gain of 3% points.

Grigsby-Grunow again scaled a new peak, reaching 196, after closing last night at 190. Noranda Mines was a strong feature of the mining group. Midland Steel again broke through to a new high.

YOUNGSTOWN SHEET & T. PLANS

The proposal will come before stockholders at a special meeting Aug. 15.

Get Control of Belgian Match Industry.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, July 12.—Control of the Belgian match industry has been taken over by Swedish match company interests, it was today announced in Stockholm, and although there is no Government monopoly involved, this will add another nation to the list of those whose match business is co-ordinated with the Swedish organization. The Belgian match interests had already been acquired by the Kremer interests, which also control the International Match Corporation, an American concern, as well as Kremer and Toll, an international investment house.

Coty, Inc., New Program.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Arrangements have been made whereby Coty, Inc., the American company, will have closer affiliations with the various Coty companies in Europe. It was announced by B. E. Levy, chairman of the American company, who has just returned from a series of conferences with officials of the European companies.

Ots' Elevator Report.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A net profit of $3,761,555 for the six months ending June 29, is reported by the Ots' Elevator Co. This figure compares with $3,663,120 earned during the corresponding period last year and is equal to $7.18 a share on the 496,999 common shares. Earnings for the first half last year were equal to $7.57 a share on 432,181 shares.

SON OF D'ANNUNZIO IS U.S. BUSINESS MAN

Every Year He Returns to Father's Italian Lake to Do His Flying.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK July 12.—Every summer the youngest son of Gabriele D'Annunzio closes his New York apartment and returns with his wife to his father's Italian lake to do his annual flying.

For this son of Italy's fiery poet-soldier, Capt. Ugo V. D'Annunzio, is no longer an Italian aviator. He now is an American business executive, with two offices in Manhattan and a factory on Long Island.

Capt. D'Annunzio came to America to sell airplanes. He has stayed because it offered him the opportunity to make a reputation of his own. Hence he is referred to as the son of an illustrious parent.

Born in Rome 42 years ago, young D'Annunzio developed a temperament quite different from that of his father. It is true he wrote verse in his childhood, but what schoolboy does not? These mere flights of imagination were soon over and he took up what was more alluring—actual flying; when, in 1909, he was graduated from the Polytechnic Institute in Zurich, Switzerland.

In America in 1918.
Designing and building airplanes attracted him from the start. Then came war and in 1915 he was chief engineer of the Caproni factory in Italy.

D'Annunzio first came to America in 1918 to obtain a new aircraft contract for his employers. He had barely succeeded in this when the armistice was signed and aviation slumped.

For a brief period he became an automobile racing driver, but again he was sent to America, this time as representative of Isotta-Fraschini.

Now he is president of the Isotta-Fraschini Co., president of the American Aeronautical Sales Corporation and vice president of the American Aeronautical Corporation, builders of flying boats. An American citizen for the last five years, his business has been to raise and use American capital in the development of amphibian planes.

His Father's Plane.

Just as the first American factory of D'Annunzio and his associate, Enzo Bossi, another naturalized American, is rising at Port Washington. By October they expect to be producing more than 20 amphibians a month.

With all this activity, D'Annunzio has no time for flying and little time to read the poetry of his father, whom he closely resembles.

That is why he returns to Milan for six months of each year, to pass the winter in Italy, necessary to retain his pilot's license and to visit his oldest brother, Mario, who is a politician and Roman congressman, and Gabriele the Second, who is an artist. For his flying he uses the boats of Gabriele Senior, who lives two hours away at Gardone, an island in a lake between Milan and Verona.

said, "The bishop of Birmingham frequently uses language of a vehement kind that he must not be allowed to say, and his brethren wish to call attention to its implications, but we should not allow our time to be taken up by considering what the bishop of Birmingham does or does not mean."

"I still want to protest," continued the bishop of St. Albans, "not only about the language which the bishop of Birmingham uses regarding us, but also about language which is hurtful to feelings and religious susceptibilities of thousands of people in this country and throughout the world, such as the description of the statue of the Madonna and Child as that of a female and child."

Dr. Barnes again attempted to interpose as the Archbishop of Canterbury said, "Every day I receive from representatives of every section of the church indignant protests against the kind of language in which the bishop of Birmingham—I think it must be inadvertently—wounds the consciences and feelings of his brother churchmen."

Dr. Barnes, replying, said in explanation of his personal position that he stood in some sense as a prominent member of what was known as the modernist movement, that the movement was loyal to the church, but that it also sought to be loyal to the truth. He then voted against permitting use of the new prayer book.

province, and there were reports here that Soviet troops in Eastern Siberia were ready to move eastward into Manchuria at a moment's notice.

Expelled Russian officials of the railroad were started at 6 p.m. yesterday for Eastern Siberia, and 200 were under orders to move in 12 hours.

Chang Ching-hui, Governor of the Harbin district, handed O.N. Melnikov, Soviet consul-general, passports for the expelled Russians. M. Emsharov, former manager of the railway, was confined to his residence under heavy guard after being forced to give up his post.

Pan Chih-kuang, a Chinese, was appointed to replace him. The new manager issued a statement in which he said the expelled Russians would be replaced by Russians naturalized as Chinese or by white Russians.

It was reported that Ostrovomov, manager of the railway in Czarist days, would become manager.

Chinese Statement Issued.

Lu Yung-huang, president of the Chinese eastern directorate, issued a statement alleging that Soviet Russia had been responsible for the expulsion of the Russian railroad officials and employees and the rupture it represented. He concluded with the statement that China was prepared to combat Russian reactionary measures.

"Five years have elapsed since the Mukden agreement of Oct. 8, 1924, during which Soviet violations of the agreement have been so numerous that Russian actions cannot be construed otherwise than as a manifestation of deliberate intention to repudiate the act."

"Only China's conciliatory attitude has saved the situation heretofore. China repeatedly called the attention of Russia concerning the latter's violations of the 1924 agreement, but without avail owing to Russian nonobservance."

"Moreover, Soviet communist propagandists through the railway proved by documentary evidence seized in a recent raid at the Soviet general-late-general in Harbin. Consequently I am constrained to take the present drastic measures to safeguard China's interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway."

"If Russia resorts to retaliatory measures China is prepared to deal effectively therewith."

Actual seizure of the Chinese Eastern followed seizure first of its telephone and telegraph agencies and arrest of certain Russian officials and employees. Soviet Consul Melnikov immediately demanded release of the imprisoned men by noon yesterday. The Chinese seized the rear end of the road northward. All service agencies in Northern Manchuria were closed and the labor unions disbanded.

It was understood the Chinese action was the direct outcome of a meeting at Peking of Chang Hsueh-liang, overlord of Manchuria; the president of the Nanking Government; Chiang Kai-shek; and Foreign Minister C. T. Wang.

Chang was understood here to have entrained immediately for Mukden when he was informed the orders had been put into effect.

Railroad Cost $180,000,000.

The Chinese Eastern Railway was constructed by the Russian imperial regime at a cost of $250,000,000 rubles (about $180,000,000) and was a contributing factor to the Russo-Japanese war. Under two agreements, dated 1920 and 1924, its directorate has been a board of 10, half Russian and half Chinese.

It has a length of less than 1100 miles and forms an important extension of the trans-Siberian Railway, connecting Russia proper with the port of Vladivostok. An alternate route, all Russian, skirts Northern Manchuria is much longer and a less highly developed rail organization. Chinese Eastern profits last year were nearly $8,000,000 in gold.

The Japanese in Manchuria are especially interested observers in the present turn of events. They are smartly designed and quite substantially built. You can buy several at this low price.

THE WAY OR A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall.

BACK TO THE SUN!

SUNTAN has been worn, too, these many years by all women who love and live at the beach. It's as a sun-worshipper, not merely a sea-worshipper, that have so enjoyed our beach bungalow. This year we've bought this year is closer than ever to the sun-baked sand of the beach itself; being the color of this sand, the little house looks as indigenous as a clamshell.

The sunlight floods in, from a horizon unsmudged by skyscraper, smokestack or even tree, and the sea breeze is always blowing out the curtains with pink roses and the portieres with parrots perched among their roses. On clear days, with windows and doors open on all four sides, our bungalow is a tent with a wooden roof. After noon, sunshades pour over the porch's Gloucester hammock, along so high that we can watch the sun silver-gilding blue wave-crests below; we chose for the hammock an Indian blanket with a border of small conventional fir-tree in orange, to match the splendid Western light.

When we want more and stronger sunning, we walk to the very end of the point, where ocean and bay meet in a tempestuous embrace, and lie on the sand with a driftwood log for a pillow. Getting sunburned is the simplest, most luxuriously lazy job—the only trick is to do it by degrees, and, when you feel a degree or so too warm, to crawl under bathrobe and umbrella until another day.

Of all fashions which women have meekly, or joyously, or rebelliously followed in recent years, not one seems to us to have contained such interesting and inspiring possibilities as the back-to-the-sun movement. Yes, of course it has its absurdities and follies. These elaborate commercial arrangements for matching suntan—one advertisement, the other day, greatly pointed out that the much as "her neck is much nearer her stockings than formerly," the natively smart woman buys stockings of the same size as her shoulder-blades—and these two impulsive girls with sun-skin noses and collar-bones, are calculated to make the judicious giggle, if not grieve. Nevertheless, we always have found in sunlight such warmth and vigor, such beauty and cheerfulness, that we can't help being glad more women are courting it instead of fearing it.

How can a natural, unspoiled, healthy person help loving sunshine? Children ought to grow up in it. As a youngster in the New Hampshire countryside, we played happily in a big yard bright with a trillion dew-points beneath the residence and early dormitories of sweet fern steeped in August mists, or basked in the pine-needs of clearing warm with October sunlight, or marveled at bare brown oaks and birches turned into a crystal forest by sun-aftersheet. We breathed as naturally and inevitably as we breathed.

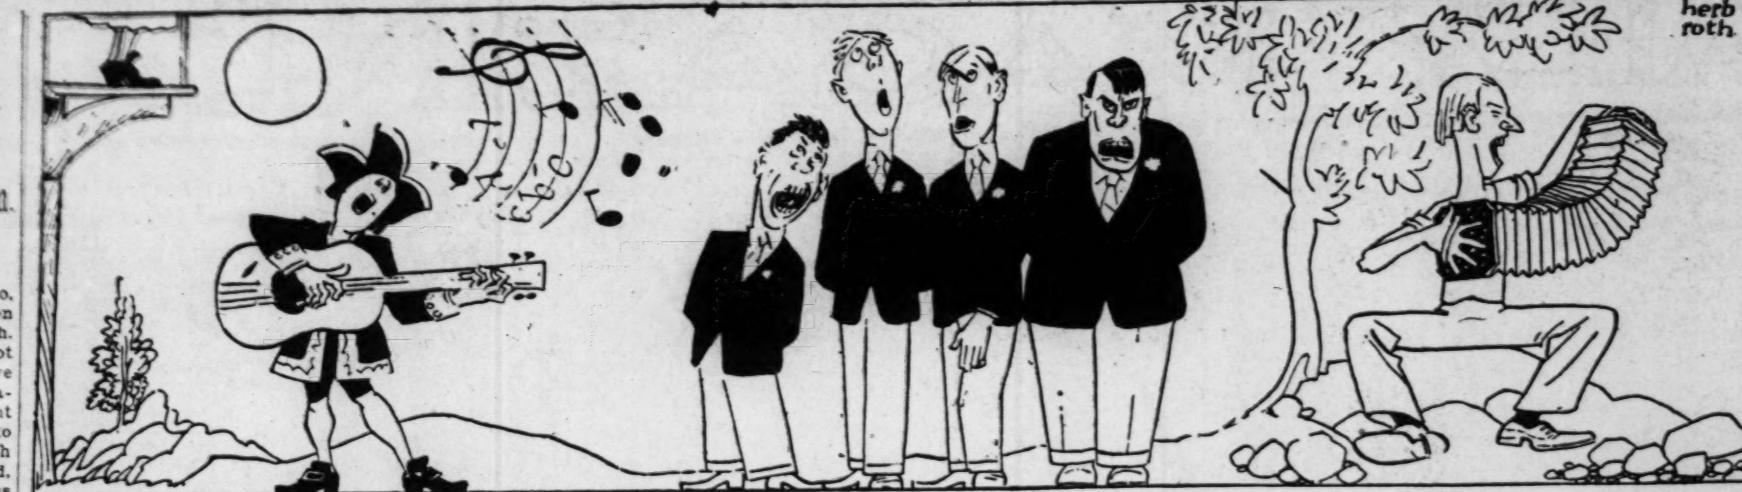

FASHION dictates sunlight this season. Doctors prescribe its ultra-violet rays. But its virtues for the female sex are, we believe, more than skin deep. Too many women like to spend most of their time in dark holes and corners. Maybe they live and work in an apartment shadowed by skyscrapers. Maybe they leave a dusky bedroom every morning to travel underground to an artificially lighted office. Either existence is unnatural. Is it any wonder if dark thoughts and moods harass such women? Surely it must be easier to believe in the joy of life—and love—if you know the glory of sunlight.

The sun is thinking about it—but, if you think he's letting feminine fancy run wild with us, read that hard-headed economist Stuart Chase, in the Nation, Writing of the Brownies of conventional Boston, with whom he took sun bath 20 years ago, he says:

"Nobody ever heard of ultraviolet in those days . . . But we large we knew, with a profoundity which mocks science, that what we were doing was good for ourselves and good for our souls." And of the current fashion for sun bakers he says, nothing of shoulders and legs—he declares: "If the republic wants to go native and can hold to it with any fidelity, it will probably do more than any other inhibitions and pathological cripplings induced by the machine age and the monstrous cities in which we live."

This is exactly what we think. Sunlight is good for super-civilized modern women—especially their bodies and minds and hearts. When a woman says that "the sun always gives me a headache," or that "I just hate glare," she's saying in effect that she's a poor sickly house plant instead of a hardy wild rose. Perhaps she can't help it, but outdoor women can only pity her artificial fragility.

More and more of our sex will go back to the sun this summer. We believe that they'll go back to strength and health and cheerfulness; that they will come to shut vigor and laughter out of their lives, as an overcautious woman shuts sunlight out of her house. Perhaps she can't help it, but outdoor women can only pity her artificial fragility.

Do You Know These Old Love Songs?

1—Her face it is the fairest
That e'er the sun shone on.
2—She is the darling of my heart.
3—She's the joy of my life.
4—Holy, fair and wise is she.
5—I hear thy gentle voice again,
And greet thy winning smile.
6—My love is young and fair.
My love hath golden hair.
7—She's as sweet as the Heather,
The bonnie, bonnie Heather.
8—This lass so neat, with smile so sweet
Has won my right good will.
9—She could dance, she could sing, she could turn a handspring.
10—On my arm a soft hand rested.
11—While I gaze in your dear eyes.
12—She sleeps, my lady sleeps.
13—No other can I love save thee alone.
14—There is no one else but you.
15—But, most of all, I love you.
16—Oh, my love, loved for years.
17—Thou wouldst still be adored, as this moment thou art.
18—And I will love thee still, my dear,
Till a' the seas gang dry.
19—Till the sun grows cold and the stars are old,
And the leaves of the Judgment Book unfold.
20—Of love unspeakable that is to be.

How many of these famous old love songs can you recognize from the following quoted lines? Most of them are old favorites that our fathers and mothers, and perhaps even our grandfathers and grandmothers, sang in their courtship days. Many of them are now heard over the radio. Included in the collection are love songs of the gypsy and the Bedouin, songs to Mary, Alice, Sally, Annie, Sylvia, Nellie, and Maggie, songs to maidens of Athens, Mexico, Scotland, Erin and Dixie—yet all had their day of popularity in American homes and halls.

This quiz consists of lines from fifty different songs. Credit yourself with two points for each line correctly identified. Then a final score of 70 is fair, 80 is good, 90 is excellent, and if you score 100 you are probably in love.

Answers are on the second page following.

21—Come, for thee a heart is pining,
Here alone I wait for thee.
22—Give, oh, give me back my heart.
23—Lean thou on my heart.
24—Or leave a kiss within the cup.
25—One parting kiss I give thee.
26—If a body kiss a body,
Need a body cry?
27—When other lips and other hearts their tales of love shall tell.
28—Each thought of thee bids grief depart,
And renders joy more bright.

29—Where the nightingales are singing,
And a white moon gleams.
30—And, oh, the bird, my darling,
Was singing, singing of you.
31—Will you think of me and love me
As you did once long ago?
32—Let me believe that you love as you loved.
33—You came, do you remember, back to me.
34—The hours I spent with thee, dear heart,
Are as a string of pearls to me.
35—I took one look at you,
That's all I meant to do.
36—Don't you cry for me!
37—She is lost and gone forever.
38—But me and my true love will never meet again.

39—And I'll never see my darling any more.
40—Tis sad to tear my heart away.
41—Toll the bell for lovely Nell,
My dark Virginia bride.
42—Oh, why are thou silent, thou voice of my heart.
43—And every day when I'm away, she'll watch for me.
44—I'm dreaming now of Hallie, sweet Hallie.
45—My Mary's asleep by the murmuring stream.
46—Sweet Alice, whose hair was so brown.
47—Come back, aroon, to the land of thy birth.
48—And now we are aged and gray, Maggie.
49—Love will be found the sweetest song of all.
50—Fifty years since our wedding day.

Texas Elopers Get Curb Stone Service

ONCE Texarkans, Ark., on the border of Texas and Arkansas, boasted two "marrying J. P.'s" vying splendidly for such matrimonial business as came their way.

Now there is one elopers' station with the rivals doing a curbside business under a single banner.

The irksome marriage laws of Texas brought it all about, the new legislation shackling the cosmic urge with three-day bans and physical examinations sending the young lovers far afield in search of quick action.

There are here now that J. S. Draper, 78, and G. M. Orr, 76, have buried the hatchet and set up a coupling stand just outside the office of the county clerk.

Young Texans turn to Arkansas as the nearest harbor. Mexico with marriage licenses retailing at $140 offers no relief; Louisiana requires a physical examination; the "25 miles of red tape" in New Mexico is burdensome, and Oklahoma is too far removed for most of the time.

But here on the border nestles Texarkana, and just where the county clerk's office debouches on the other side are two ancient justices of the peace have gone in for insuring the future growth of Texas in a large way.

For "In union there is strength" and also "Love will find a way." Not to mention "Many hands make light labor."

COAL-DUSTY SKINS

SPRING sunlight and spring clothes demand a skin of transparent cleanliness. One can perhaps get away with a cloudy complexion during the gray days of January, but in April, one's muddiness and blackheads are there for all the world to see.

Now is the time to prepare the skin for spring days and spring hats. Now is the time to free the skin of winter's soot, to guard it against the swirling dust that comes with March. Now is the proper time for the spring cleaning of faces.

If it is to be a thorough-going cleaning it will start from the inside out. In other words, with a change of diet and an orgy of water drinking. One meal a day will include a stewed fruit and another raw vegetable salad—raw-chopped spinach is a beauty food par excellence. There will be a cutting down on meat, particularly red meat, and fruits will take the place of certain other things usually given to appease the sweet-tooth.

Water may be taken during or between meals, according to the individual preference. But it must be taken, and not less than eight glasses a day.

There we've given you one of the most wonderful blood purifiers in the whole world—the simple fruits of earth and water. And that is the first step in the direction of a radiant, immaculate skin.

The next step is EXERCISE. Exercise to bring the cleansed new blood in active contact with the skin. Walk, swim, golf, dance or do setting-up exercises, but keep your body in motion daily. This is the beginning and the end of youth and good looks. Have you ever seen a real athlete with blackheads?

We hesitate even to mention here local treatment of the skin, lest it be substituted for fundamental and more essential things. In no sense is it a substitute. Tincture of green soap is excellent as a cleanser for a black-headed skin; almond meal is, too, but these things are powerless where digestive disturbances and constipation exist.

No, our sole reason for mentioning these superficial treatments is to aid in speeding up the work of clearing the skin. As aids they are most effective. Another form of local treatment helpful in eliminating blackheads is the shaving soap treatment. It is given as follows:

Spread the soap over the face gently manipulating it into the skin with a rotary pinching movement using the thumb and the side of the index finger. Let the soap remain on the skin for a few minutes then scrape it away with a wooden paddle or the blunt edge of a knife. Rinse the skin thoroughly with warm water and finally pat with a solution of equal parts water and witchhazel.

Wax the bottoms of your rockers and they will not make marks on the hardwood floors.

Woman Wins Her Fight To Gain Justice Post

By ENNIE BLANCHE NEWHALL

JENNIE BLANCHE NEWHALL of Concord, N. H., proved the old saying about women—she got what she went after. She has been appointed first woman justice of the peace of New Hampshire after fighting for the place through the Supreme Court and state legislature.

People of New Hampshire refused to strike the word "male" from their constitution when women were granted suffrage in 1920. Miss Newhall, a member of the New Hampshire bar, resolved on a personal test case. She applied for the office of justice of the peace, asked for an opinion from the Supreme Court and argued the case.

The court ruled that no appointment could be made without legislative action. Nothing daunted, Miss Newhall drafted a bill allowing women to hold public office. It was passed by the legislature and signed by the Governor.

costumes. The effect thus is not quite so bare and trying. A late fancy is to up in front and down in back hat with a narrow inset of contrasting color across the forehead, after the manner of a headache band. A pink silk band on a hat of black straw is a very interesting novelty.

The small-crowned, close-fitting chapeau of the turban type and medium brim straws are good on smart women, but as yet no large hats have appeared. Feathers still are numerous.

For the Love of a Lady

By Jeffery Farnol

SYNOPSIS: Sir Richard leaves his body of Julian, because he believes Helen D'Arcy killed him and he wishes to cast suspicion on himself, thus shielding her. He finds sanctuary in the lair of two notorious highwaymen—Black Nick and the Galloping Parson. Shortly after Richard's arrival, the Parson rides in with a bullet wound in his arm, and some startling news—Captain Despard and Helen riding through Fallowden Wood discovered Julian's body with Richard's ring beside it. Both recognized the ring and Despard, yielding to Helen's plea to hide the damning evidence against Richard, gave it to her.

Chapter Seventeen.
A CONFESSION—OF LOVE.
HELEN sat staring with eyes of horror on the signet ring upon the table.

"And now," said the Duchess, staring also at the ring, "how that you're more composed, tell me all over again."

Helen shivered, bowed her head and spoke:

"Last evening as I rode, I met Capt. Despard, and I would have left him, for I hate the man, but he persisted. We reached the little wood they call the Fallowden Dingle, and he suggested we ride through it."

"Ah, 'twas himself suggested the wood?"

"Yes, aunt; I do so because 'tis the shortest way back to the village. And there lay Julian Guyfrod-dead. And beside his dead hand—this! And she pointed trembling finger at Sir Richard's signet ring.

"And," inquired the Duchess, "when the Captain saw it, too?"

"Twas he picked it up this morning. Surely I have seen this signet before. Ay, it is Sir Richard's Guyfrod signet!" And then, "Here is evidence which verily hang him—if found! He quavered with this unfortunate gentleman so bitterly! And now he has his ring beside the murdered body of this poor gentleman! If found here, this shall assuredly hang Sir Richard!"

"Yes, my lord. He left at about 6 o'clock."

"Twas the murder was discovered about 8 o'clock."

The Marquis frowned at his bed-curtains blacker than ever.

BUT that same night, Greg, I was "attacked by highwayman," he said. "I wore his shirt, his horse, though I had the luck to ring the rogue this off 'bout ha-pass 8. Now who's to say the murder was not committed by some such rogue-eh?"

"My lord," sighed Gregory. "Mr. Julian had not been robbed."

"Ay, true," said the Marquis. "Ha, but," quoth he, brightening suddenly, "the rogues may h' been scared off 'fore they could rob the body—eh?"

"Possibly sir, though the wood is a lonely spot."

"But the question is—what's become of poor Dick? He left in a hurry, I understand?"

"At a moment's notice, my lord."

"He wore his sword, of course."

"Yes, sir. His pistols were in his saddle holsters."

"And then he gave it thee, av course."

"He did," answered Helen. "Take it, Helen," said he; "henceforth we are friends in crime." And he smiled."

"And no wonder!" nodded the Duchess, frowning. "For fellows in crime y' are indeed, miss!"

Helen shivered. "Ah! What do you mean?"

"That y' are to be the pricke o' this gentleman's silence."

"Oh!" gasped my lady. "Oh, aunt, what other could I ha' done?"

"Well, you might ha' left this ring—Heing."

"Lying ring? Then, oh, then you think it would ha' borne false testimony? You don't think he—"

"What I think is neither here nor there—'tis phwat I know!"

"And what... do you know?"

"Howbeit, we love Sir Richard Guyford."

My lady sat silent for quite one moment then, sighed sht:

"Dear aunt, let us consider! It doth to... dread his dishonor, to fear for his safety, to pity him in his loneliness, to long to comfort him, yearn to plague him, anger him, soothe him, aid him, share his dangers, belong to him? If this be so... why then—"

"Rogues," chuckled the Duchess. "Come kiss me!"

"And you believe in him, despite his ill-spute?"

Here was knocking on the door, and Betty, my lady's maid, appeared, breathless, flushed and agog with news:

The Bare-Back Mode in the Summer Styles

THESE six frocks illustrating versions of the bare back mode were sketched at Fairmount the last day of the racing meet, vised but we know now sports lines already dominate day and even evening modes so we who cherish skirts as a last remaining symbol of modesty may well take heed.

It isn't going to require a declaration of independence for a girl who is spending most of her time in a skirtless costume to cast the already short and flimsy garment from her wardrobe. And if she is a leading spirit she is sure to have a host of followers.

Already this season the term "fashionable undress" is succeeding that of "fashionable dress." One meets it in all the fashion articles. Already, too, manufacturers of cosmetics are declaring that the bronzed complexion makes all the difference in the world between modesty and nudity and are telling in their ads how it may be attained by synthetic methods.

Well may even the most abject slave of fashion exclaim, "What next?" And well may all the vast interests which thrive upon woman's well established fondness for clothes tremble at the course fashion is taking. Perhaps we are about to return to that blissful state in Eden before the fall. But there are few other signs of the millennium and as has been said, by the time fashionable undress has run its course it will no longer be fashionable, and the day be saved for skirts. Not only that, but the pendulum swinging to the other extreme as it has a way of doing at the end of each recurring cycle of fashion, in all probability frocks will run more to skirts, be more fussy, frilly and fluffy feminine than they have been since first we began discarding petticoats, trains and sweeping flounces.

STOCKINGS REMAIN FOR SUMMER

PARIS cereal should occasionally be on the breakfast menu even during the summer. Of course the fine grain cereals should be chosen for this season, such as farina, cream of wheat, etc.

That which is left over will make delicious hot-day desserts.

Having breakfasted hastily, the Marquis suffered himself to be washed, shaved and dressed, lost meanwhile in profound abstraction or thought, interrupted the nice adjustment of his lace neckcloth with command for haste, tossed off silk-en dressing robe, and slid into embroidered coat, and all with such unheard-of agility as left his Francoise gasping.

"Hum!" quoth the Marquis, and was gloomily silent for a while.

"My lady," called the D'Arcy, called that afternoon you tell me; poor Dick's enemies are busy already, eh? Ah, well, though 'tis s' cure early, I perceive I must be up 'n' doing, Greg, up 'n' doing."

Although nobody knows it but Gus, the benefit is to help buy one of the three diamond engagement rings which Louis finds it necessary to give to the temperamental Widow Biddle to cement their marriage.

WALL STREET
RAIL STOCKS ARE BID UP VIOLENTLY

New York Central Sent Up 16 Points to Record Price of 235 and Union Pacific
Nearly 13 Points to Peak.

UTILITIES REACT AS PROFITS ARE TAKEN

Operators for the Advance
Switch Into Railroad Group When Realizing Sales Affect Utilities.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 12.—Operations for the advance were pressed with unrelenting vigor on the stock market today, switching into the rails, when the utilities began to sag under the pressure of realizing on their violent upturn of yesterday. Profit taking was well absorbed, most losses being restricted to a point or less.

There was little in the day's news to effect the market, although the week-end business review again stressed the exceptionally high rate of activity, several major industries leaders, however, were induced to exercise caution, feeling that the market had reached an overbought condition in yesterday's sharp upturn.

Call Rate Carried Over
Yesterday's call money rate of 2 per cent carried over the weekend, and although Wall street still persists in its belief that better credit conditions cannot be far away, bankers held out little hope of substantial improvement for several days, as New York banks appear to have made little headway in paying off the heavy borrowings from the Federal Reserve which were necessitated by the July 1 credit requirements.

The day's corporation news was meager, but contained the half-year earnings report of American Telephone, showing net income for the period of $80,202,096, contracted with 16,571,763 in the like period of 1928.

Violent Rise in Rails.
The rails, however, had one of their most violent advances of the year. New York Central was sent up 16 points to a record price at 235, and closed at 232. Union Pacific was up nearly 12 points to a peak at 285. Chesapeake & Ohio, Atchison, Topeka & Southern mounted 8 to 9 points to record tops. Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Frisco, Katy and Delaware & Hudson were sent up 4 to 7 points to record high ground.

Communications issues were also buoyant. American Telephone, International Telephone and Western Union rising 5 points or so to new peak levels. Although power stocks were generally under pressure, Commonwealth jumped nearly 7 points. Air stocks were also strong. Curtiss, Wright and United selling up 2 to 4 points.

Coppers Are Heavy.
Marked heaviness in the coppers was somewhat unsettling, such issues as Anaconda, Greene Cananea and Kennecott losing from 2 to 4 points. United States Steel, after rising a point to a record price at 204, declined to close with a fractional loss. In the utilities, Public Service of New Jersey lost nearly 2 points and Consolidated Gas about a point.

Foreign exchanges were dull and practically unchanged. Sterling Cables holding near the incoming gold point at $4.45.

Wheat featured the commodity markets with an extraordinary upturn of about 5 cents a bushel on reports of floods in Kansas and reduced Northwest crop estimates. Corn was firm, selling above a cent a bushel higher on bearish weather forecasts and bullish Argentine advice. Cotton closed slightly lower.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on pages 8, 9 and 10.

HODIMONT CARS REROUTED

They Run on Franklin Avenue instead of on Wash Street.

The Public Service Co. today put into effect its rerouting of Hodimont cars over Franklin avenue from Leffingwell avenue to High street instead of running over Wash street as heretofore.

The Hodimont cars now use Franklin all the way from Grand Boulevard to High street. The rerouting is expected to improve running time and traffic conditions.

"French Night" entertainment at Franklin tonight and Mon. PA. 9000.
